

In Memory of John Dillon

Professor Emeritus

University of Alabama at Birmingham

December 14, 1935 – November 22, 2019

During his time at UAB, Dillon created a series of vinyl bird silhouettes, which he installed on the Humanities Building to deter birds from flying into the windows and hurting themselves. Many of those bird decals still exist on the Humanities Building windows today.

The UAB Department of Art + Art History has been creating more of these decals to honor Dillon and his love for birds. You are invited to make one of your own by tracing and cutting out this silhouette on removable window film, available at most hardware stores.
