DIRECTOR'S NOTE

The legend of Wiley and the Hairy Man is a part of our southern folklore. It has been passed down from generation to generation. There have been many versions of the story in the past. This version is by Suzan Zeder.
As she said, "It is a play about the kinds of fears that children face, alone, in the dark." It teaches us that all people have fears and with the help and love of our friends and family we can learn to conquer them. I hope you will enjoy our play. If you would like to write the cast, please send your letters to them c/o The University of Alabama at Birmingham, Department of Theatre and Dance, UAB Station, Birmingham, AL 35294.

THE HAIRY MAN CHANT

Stampin', Stompin', coming through the trees,
Shufflin' through the swamp grass,
Blowin' in the breeze.
Bounding, pounding, fast as he can,
What did Wiley see?
He saw THE HAIRY MAN!
