Everyone experiences difficult times or challenges sooner or later. This interactive program will help you offer and receive emotional and/or spiritual support when you, friends, family members, or co-workers need it most. Simple communication tips will help you make a difference in someone else’s life. Participants will also learn how to ask for support when it’s needed. Rev. Marler, with 25 years experience as a pastoral caregiver, is the director of The Support Team Network, a national training and resource center for the development of volunteer Support Teams for persons with health concerns or other special needs.

Everyone experiences difficult times or challenges sooner or later. This interactive program will help you offer and receive emotional and/or spiritual support when you, friends, family members, or co-workers need it most. Simple communication tips will help you make a difference in someone else’s life. Participants will also learn how to ask for support when it’s needed. Rev. Marler, with 25 years experience as a pastoral caregiver, is the director of The Support Team Network, a national training and resource center for the development of volunteer Support Teams for persons with health concerns or other special needs.

Cornucopia House services are free of charge to all cancer patients, their family, friends, and caregivers.

Cornucopia House services are free of charge to all cancer patients, their family, friends, and caregivers.