E-Reserves

Wouldn't it be nice to have only one link to keep up with for your class readings? In our E-Reserves system we can provide access to articles and book chapters for any course. We provide a direct link to each course and also provide or create (as requested) a password to limit access to the course. Individual courses are also searchable at libguides.lhl.uab.edu/er.php. To see our test course, go to our E-Reserve system and search for LHL 102 or go directly to the course and input the password: test. Our E-Reserve system is part of our LHL Guides system so we can easily include links to helpful LHL Guides on the E-Reserves course page. If you are interested in this service, please fill out our E-Reserves Request Form or send an email to Cataloging at lhlreserves@uab.edu or call 205-934-2461.

Scopus

Lister Hill Library has licensed Scopus, an abstract and citation database of peer-reviewed literature and web sources. The database includes:

- 24,500,000 records with references after 1995 (78% include references)
- 21,000,000 pre-1996 records (back to 1823)
- 4,600,000 conference papers (proceedings and journals)
- Links to UAB licensed full text

Other features of Scopus include:

- 100% Medline coverage, includes EMBASE records
- Interdisciplinary coverage including life sciences, social sciences, health sciences, and physical sciences
- Nearly 18,500 titles from 5,000 publishers worldwide
- 70% of content is pulled from international sources
- Replaces Web of Science though we retain 1990-2011 data. (We still license Journal Citation Reports (impact factors) and will have Endnote Web)

- 12/15 EndNote- Learn to use EndNote software to store, organize, and format your citations and bibliography in a Word document

Kirklin Clinic Patient Resource Library

The Kirklin Clinic Patient Resource Library opened its doors on November 1, 2006. The TKC PRL came about through a collaboration between the TKC, UAB's Comprehensive Cancer Center, and the Lister Hill Library of the Health Sciences. On October 27, library staff celebrated the 5-year milestone with a birthday party at the library. Since opening, the TKC PRL has hosted over 27,000 visitors and the librarians have responded to almost 8,000 information requests. We are looking forward to many more years of providing quality health information to UAB patients and their families at the point of care!
