

Finding Full Text Articles in PubMed

Lister Hill Library provides a button on PubMed records to allow linking to electronic full text articles if UAB has licenses the journal. To use this button,

- Access PubMed through the library website: www.uab.edu/lister
  - Use the Search box on the homepage or the PubMed link on the Quick Links or Databases pages
  - Off campus, authenticate with Blazer ID and password to link to licensed full text
- All publishers do not link in the same ways. If one button does not work, try another.

The screenshot shows a PubMed record for a Science journal article. Three callout boxes provide instructions:

- Article manuscript is free in PubMed Central: Points to the 'FREE Author Manuscript in PubMed Central' link.
- Publisher Link. May cost $$$: Points to the Science logo link.
- Choose for UAB full text options. If full text is not available, check for print holdings or request it through Interlibrary Loan: Points to the 'UAB ARTICLE LINKER' button.

What the links mean:

	Publisher Link. May cost $$$$. Off campus, try Article Linker first.
	Find full text if LHL subscribes to the journal, or order the article through the ILLiad document delivery system if not.
	The full text & PDF author manuscript of the article is available for free.
