

University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson

Tenure-track Faculty Position at the Associate Professor Rank

The Department of Microbiology at the University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson, MS invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the associate professor rank. There are presently 13 microbiology faculty members in the department and efforts are underway to recruit new faculty in the area of host-pathogen interactions with an emphasis in bacteriology, immunology, or virology. Faculty salaries are currently 100% supported from institutional funds. A successful candidate should have a Ph.D. or equivalent degree with post-doctoral experience and experience as an assistant professor inclusive of acquisition of research funding. He/she is expected to maintain an extramurally funded research program, and to teach graduate students as well as medical and dental students. Research interests of the present faculty focus on bacterial pathogenesis, comparative immunology, virology, and molecular parasitology. There are 21 Ph.D. graduates from this department over the last five years (see <http://microbiology.umc.edu>).

The University of Mississippi Medical Center includes the Schools of Medicine, Nursing, Health Related Professions, Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Graduate Studies in Health Sciences. The Medical Center has four interconnecting hospitals and a variety of clinics serving the entire state. The metro Jackson area offers affordable living with one area being named among the top Towns for Families in America.

Interested individuals should submit a curriculum vitae, description of their research interests and teaching experience, and the names and contact information of three references to:

Faculty Search Committee
Department of Microbiology
University of Mississippi Medical Center
2500 North State Street
Jackson, MS 39216-4505

(phone 601-984-1700)

For e-mail submission of application or general information: csgreen@umc.edu.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Mississippi Medical Center is an equal opportunity employer, M/F/D/V.