

DEPARTMENT OF PATHOLOGY, DIVISION OF ANATOMIC PATHOLOGY UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA AT BIRMINGHAM

Academic GI/Surgical Pathologist

Asst/Assoc/Full-Professor applications are invited for a GI/surgical pathology faculty position. The University of Alabama at Birmingham is an outstanding tertiary care institution currently processing more than 40,000 surgical pathology specimens per year of which >10% are GI focused. The successful candidate will be a dynamic physician eager to work with a large surgical pathology faculty headed by Margaret Brandwein-Gensler, M.D. with a rich and diverse program in diagnostic service, basic, clinical and translational research, and teaching.

Specialized expertise in gastroenterologic pathology is required. There is ample opportunity for the teaching of house staff and undergraduate health professional students and our graduate [Ph.D], residency and fellowship programs are thriving. Opportunities for collaborative research abound. Minimum requirements include an M.D. degree, license to practice in Alabama, and eligibility for board certification in Anatomic Pathology. Salary, rank, and tenure-status are commensurate with experience and background.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter that includes research interest/experience, curriculum vitae, and the names of three references to the attention of Gene P. Siegal, M.D., Ph. D., Robert W. Mowry Endowed Professor of Pathology, Director, Division of Anatomic Pathology, Department of Pathology, University of Alabama at Birmingham, path-aprecruits@mail.ad.uab.edu. All applications will be accepted until position is filled.

The University of Alabama at Birmingham is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from qualified women and minorities.
