

DEPARTMENT OF PATHOLOGY, DIVISION OF ANATOMIC PATHOLOGY
UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA AT BIRMINGHAM

Anatomic Pathologist

UAB is seeking a highly motivated junior level, tenure earning, Anatomic Pathologist (Assistant Professor) who has successfully completed his/her residency and who is interested in developing a translational research program in oncology and coadministering the operation of a dynamic NIH-funded tissue/tumor resource dedicated to cancer and other human disease specimens.

The ideal candidate will be an MD or MD/PhD who is eligible for medical licensure in the state of Alabama and board eligible/certified in Anatomic Pathology who desires a career in academic medicine. A mentorship with an established and successful senior faculty member can be arranged to aid in the maturation of the candidate's research.

Rank and salary are commensurate with training and experience. UAB has a large and diversified outstanding faculty and offers training to more than 75 residents, clinical fellows, graduate students and post-doctoral associates. Ample research and clinical space exists in multiple facilities across the campus and interdisciplinary research is fostered among the members of our myriad of Centers, Departments and Institutes.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter that includes research interest/experience, curriculum vitae, and the names of three references to the attention of Steven L. Carroll, M.D., Ph. D., Professor of Pathology and Director, Division of Neuropathology, Department of Pathology, University of Alabama at Birmingham, path-aprecruits@mail.ad.uab.edu. All applications will be accepted until position is filled.
