CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDITS

All courses in this 18-hour program will be COPE approved. Participants will receive continuing education credit based on the number of hours earned by attending lectures. Partial credit will not be given for courses. Anyone missing more than 10 minutes of a course will not receive credit. There are a total of 6 hours available (three 2-hour courses) for continuing education with examination (CEE) / transcript quality (TQ). To take the examination(s), you will complete a form on site requesting the tests which will be mailed to you with directions for returning to UABSO.

MEET THE SPEAKERS

Michael Sullivan-Mee, OD, FAAO is the Chief of Optometry at the Albuquerque VA Medical Center. He is an American Academy of Optometry (AAO) clinical diplomate in glaucoma and serves as the Diplomate chair for the AAO's Glaucoma Section and serves as vice-chair for the scientific program committee for the AAO annual meeting. Dr. Sullivan-Mee is actively involved with clinical research in glaucoma, and his scientific contributions include over 100 publications and presentations with published papers in a variety of highly respected peer-reviewed journals including Investigative Ophthalmology and Vision Science, American Journal of Ophthalmology, and Optometry and Vision Science. He has held full-time faculty positions at NSU Oklahoma College of Optometry and SUNY College of Optometry and currently holds adjunct faculty appointments at the University of Houston, College of Optometry, and the University of New Mexico, School of Medicine.

Denise Pensyl, OD, FAAO received her optometry and graduate degrees from The Ohio State University. She completed a residency in hospital-based optometry at the Louis Stokes Cleveland VA Medical Center before joining the faculty at the University of Alabama at Birmingham School of Optometry. At UAB she taught clinical and didactic courses in primary care, ocular disease and low vision while conducting research in a variety of areas including glaucoma, dry eye, keratoconus and ocular pharmacology. Before her current appointment at the New Mexico VA Healthcare System, she served on staff at the Greater Los Angeles VAHCS and the Cleveland VAMC. She has authored numerous journal articles and textbook chapters, and currently serves as a co-investigator in a longitudinal glaucoma research study at the Albuquerque VA.

Bruce E. Onofrey, OD, RPh, FAAO is a graduate of the Illinois College of Optometry and completed his residency at the Albuquerque Veterans Administration Medical Center. He has degrees in chemistry and pharmacy and he recently retired from the Lovelace Medical Center Eye Dept. after 25 years where he served as the Chief of Optometry and Vice-Chairman of eye services. He is currently a clinical professor at the University of Houston and the Exec. Director of continuing education programs. His special interests include lectures in general and ocular pharmacology and clinical drug research. Dr. Onofrey is a frequent contributor to ophthalmic literature and is the current editor of “Clinical Optometric Pharmacology and Therapeutics”, and the author of “The Ocular Therapeutics Handbook: A Clinical Manual”, both published by Lippincott. He also serves as a contributing editor to “Primary Care Optometry News” and is an internationally recognized lecturer on the management of ocular disease and the use of pharmaceutical agents.

Brad M. Sutton, OD, FAAO is a Clinical Professor at the Indiana University School of Optometry and is the Chief of Service at the Indianapolis Eye Care Center. Dr. Sutton’s main areas of clinical interest include ocular disease and surgical co-management. He has given over 300 continuing education lectures on topics related to ocular disease at the local, state, national, and international level, and has published extensively. He was named the Young OD of the year in both Tennessee and Indiana, and he served as the President of the Optometric Retina Society.

Matthew Vicinanzo, MD, FACS has a practice in reconstructive and cosmetic surgery of the orbits, eyelids, brows, and lacrimal system due to trauma, cancer, congenital defects, systemic diseases, and aging. He received his BA with honors from Harvard University and his MD with honors from the Syracuse College of Medicine at SUNY. He completed specialty training in ophthalmology at Vanderbilt University, followed by a 2 year ASOPRS fellowship in oculoplastic, orbital, and reconstructive surgery at UAB Medical Center and The Callahan Eye Foundation Hospital. Dr. Vicinanzo serves as an Assistant Clinical Professor for the Dept. of Ophthalmology at UAB, where he teaches oculoplastic surgery to the resident doctors at The Callahan Eye Foundation Hospital, the Birmingham VA Hospital, and UAB Medical Center. He is a member and serves as an associate preceptor for The American Society of Oculoplastics and Reconstructive Surgery in the training of certified fellows. He is both certified by and is a diplomat of the American Academy of Ophthalmology. Dr. Vicinanzo is currently involved in multiple eye and oculoplastic research studies and has been elected to Best Doctors in America since 2009.
