Faculty Positions
Department of Nutrition Sciences
The University of Alabama at Birmingham

The University of Alabama at Birmingham is seeking to expand its strong base of nutrition, obesity, and diabetes research. Three faculty positions are available in the Department of Nutrition Sciences, School of Health Professions. These are full-time, twelve-month, tenure-earning positions, at the level of Assistant, Associate, or full Professor. Primary responsibilities include research, scholarly activities, and teaching consistent with the goals of the Department of Nutrition Sciences. The Department is home to a graduate studies program and two highly interdisciplinary campus-wide NIH-funded Centers, the Nutrition Obesity Research Center and the Diabetes Research Center. UAB, a premier medical school and research institution, is a RU/VH-Research Universities institution with an international reputation in research, education and health care. Further information can be found at www.uab.edu/nutrition

Minimum requirements for the position include a doctoral degree (e.g., PhD or MD). Candidates are expected to have expertise and a documented track record of productivity in obesity, diabetes, and/or energy metabolism, working in any number of systems from cells to humans. The salary, benefits, and start-up packages are highly competitive. Birmingham is an international city that enjoys a reputation as one of America’s best places to live, work, and play.

UAB is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer committed to fostering a diverse, equitable and family-friendly environment in which all faculty and staff can excel and achieve work/life balance irrespective of ethnicity, gender, faith, gender identity and expression as well as sexual orientation. UAB also encourages applications from individuals with disabilities and veterans. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. A pre-employment background investigation is performed on candidates selected for employment. Please send letter of interest, and curriculum vitae to:
