UAB’s NIH-funded Clinical Nutrition Research Center (CNRC) requests applications for 2-3 Pilot - Feasibility studies funded at $25,000/year for up to two years (second year funding based on acceptable progress).

The P-F studies may focus on any area of research broadly related to nutrition or obesity and are designed to provide initial project support for new investigators; allow exploration of possible innovative new directions for established investigators in nutrition sciences or obesity research that represent a significant departure from ongoing funded research; and stimulate investigators from other areas of endeavor to use their expertise for nutrition/obesity research.

One-page abstracts and supporting documents are due 5:00 PM, April 6, 2001 (Webb Bldg. 324).

Interested applicants may contact Charles Prince (934-7757; princecw@uab.edu) or Roland Weinsier (975-9675; weinsier@shrp.uab.edu) for additional information about the application and review process.