The UAB Department of Art + Art History fosters critical and creative thinking, communication, problem solving and community engagement through our curriculum and programs.

As an art and art history student at UAB, you will learn the skills and techniques needed to express yourself, practice the art of critique, and study from cultural producers new and old.
STUDENT EXPECTATIONS

ART STUDIO COURSES
Art Studio courses typically meet twice a week for 2.5 hours each. Some of that in-class time is spent working on projects. For every hour you spend in an art studio class, you are expected to spend (at minimum) an hour outside of class working on projects for that course.

So for the standard class structure mentioned here, you would spend 5 hours/week in class, and 5 hours/week outside of class working on projects for that course.

ART HISTORY COURSES
Art History courses typically meet for an hour and 15 minutes 2 times per week. These classes are lecture-based and require sustained focus and note-taking. For every hour you spend in an art history class, you are expected to spend two hours outside of class studying and working on projects for that course.

For example, if your class met on T/Th for 75 minutes at a time, that means you’re spending 2.5 hours in class and will need to spend 5 more hours outside of class studying and working on projects for that course.

EXTRACURRICULAR EDUCATION
Your education doesn’t end when you walk out of your classroom door. In the UAB Department of Art and Art History, we go above and beyond to offer supplemental creative and educational opportunities outside of class. We expect you to take an active interest in art.

You can dig in deeper at UAB by:
- seeing exhibitions at AEIVA and in the Art Lab
- attending guest artist and scholar lectures
- participating in workshops
- applying for our department exhibition opportunities
- and plenty more outside of UAB (more on that later)

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN ART
ART HISTORY CONCENTRATION
Art history is the study of artwork as expressions of human ideas, feelings, and conditions of life. The B.A. in Art with a concentration in Art History immerses students in cultural and aesthetic issues while emphasizing visual, verbal, and written literacy—broadly-transferrable skills that are critically important in a global society and are highly valued by employers across all business sectors.

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN ART
ART STUDIO CONCENTRATION
The B.A. in Art with a concentration in Art Studio is offered for students who seek a liberal arts education with a focus on art. This degree offers a breadth of study among our seven studio areas. Whatever the chosen media, B.A. students experience the possibilities of what it means to create artwork that transforms the world in which they live.

BACHELOR OF FINE ARTS IN ART STUDIO
The B.F.A. in Art Studio offers students an intensive exploration across a breadth of media and within a depth of discipline that allows the undergraduate student to prepare to be an artist or designer, to begin a career in arts organizations, or to continue their studies in graduate school. Students gain skills and competencies including team-based learning, technology, communication, aesthetic judgment, interdisciplinary and innovative approaches, critical analysis, and professional development throughout their program of study. The degree culminates in the B.F.A. exhibition, a highlight of the undergraduate career that demonstrates and celebrates the students’ accomplishments.

B. A. ART HISTORY CURRICULUM

APPLICATION

To be eligible for the B.F.A. program you must:

● have completed at least 12 hours of UAB art studio course credits
● have and maintain 2.5 GPA or higher in all studio classes

BFA applications are submitted online via Slideroom, where you will upload 15 examples of original work, across various media, demonstrating your level of development. Follow the Slideroom directions closely: format all images as described, and enter all other required information (title, medium, etc.).

Students are encouraged to meet with a full time faculty member prior to application to discuss their application and potential for success in the BFA program. For questions, contact Associate Professor Stacey Holloway shollow@uab.edu.

B.F.A. PROGRAM

As you can see on the previous page, the B.F.A. Art Studio degree requires the same number of credit hours as a B.A. in Art Studio, it’s just structured a little differently. If you’re planning to be a professional artist or designer, begin a career in the arts sector, or continue your studies in graduate school, the BFA is probably a good choice for you.

The benefits of being a BFA student include:

● formalized advising relationship with a faculty member
● feedback from panel of faculty during yearly BFA reviews
● a professional exhibition at AEIVA during your final spring semester
● likelihood of a stronger portfolio upon graduation
● BFA studio on campus

CHECK OUT THE "PRO TIPS" ON PAGE 27!

FALL: DUE OCTOBER 1
SPRING: DUE MARCH 1

BFA ADVISOR

Once accepted into the BFA program, please talk to a full-time faculty member to discuss/agree to be your BFA Faculty Advisor. It is suggested that your advisor be in the primary media area in which you will be working. Your faculty advisor will be the person with whom you register for ARS 491, the BFA Exhibition course in your final semester (note: your BFA Faculty Advisor is not your CAS academic advisor).

BFA REVIEWS

Every spring semester, BFA students present their work to a panel of faculty members in BFA Reviews. You must participate/present in one review each spring semester, and one fall review prior to the semester you plan to graduate. You will be notified of the time and date for your review by email.

In addition to participating in your own review, you are strongly encouraged to attend a minimum of 3 individual BFA reviews of your fellow students.

BFA reviews are an important part of your education, and provide a graduate-school-like experience while you are pursuing your undergraduate degree.

BFA EXHIBITION

You will plan, prepare and present an exhibition of work at the Abroms-Engel Institute for the Visual Arts (AEIVA) during the final spring semester, with the direction of you BFA advisor. This is a wonderful opportunity to gain professional experience as an exhibiting artist working with curators in a world-class gallery. AEIVA staff treat student artists with the same respect and professionalism that they offer all of their exhibiting artists.

During the semester of your BFA exhibition, you will enroll in ARS 491 with your advisor. You will get extensive details about your exhibition from Department and AEIVA staff as your exhibition nears.
IMPORTANT DATES

Refer to the UAB academic calendar for important academic dates and deadlines. In addition to those, here are a few important Department of Art and Art History dates that you should be aware of:

IT’S IN THE SYLLABUS

Adjusting to the responsibilities of being a college student can be a big challenge. Thankfully, your professors provide you with detailed information about what to expect from—and how to succeed in—your classes. That info? It’s in the syllabus.

It’s your responsibility to adhere to the policies and expectations that are clearly outlined for you in your course syllabi. If you have a question about class details, look in the syllabus. The info you need is probably there.
ANNUAL JURIED STUDENT EXHIBITION

Creative careers don’t usually blossom overnight. They grow from incremental steps: an exhibition here, a new connection there. We offer you an opportunity to start putting yourself out there: the Annual Juried Student Exhibition. This time-honored tradition, almost as old as UAB itself, has long been an opportunity for UAB student artists to showcase their work to the community. It has led to connections and opportunities that have boosted many UAB artists’ careers. You don’t want to be left out!

This juried exhibition, coordinated by the UAB Department of Art and Art History and presented at the AEIVA galleries, includes student works selected by a professional artist and functions as an experiential learning opportunity for UAB art students. The show is open to all students currently enrolled in courses in the Department of Art and Art History. Students may submit up to 3 works. Work must have been created no earlier than 2 years prior to the application date.

APPLICATION

Applications for the Annual Juried Student Exhibition are available at the end of the fall semester. Submit your application via Slideroom, where you will upload up to 3 works for consideration, Follow the Slideroom directions closely: format all images as described, and enter all other required information (title, medium, etc.).

EXHIBITION

A professional artist from outside of UAB will jury the exhibition, reviewing all submitted artworks and selecting the pieces that they believe will make a strong exhibition. All applicants will be notified of the juror’s decisions. Those selected for inclusion in the exhibition will receive detailed instructions from the Department and from AEIVA. The exhibition takes place during the first half of the Spring semester.

B-SMART

All scholarship applicants must submit information and supporting materials to UAB’s B-Smart. https://uab.academicworks.com/

SLIDEROOM (ART STUDIO ONLY)

To apply for undergraduate art studio scholarships, you must submit all required applications to B-Smart AND upload a portfolio to Slideroom. The link to the Slideroom application will be provided for you in the B-Smart application.

If you are applying for more than one scholarship, you only need to upload your portfolio one time. Art Studio scholarship applicants must upload all materials to both platforms to be considered for department scholarships.

QUESTIONS?

If you encounter any problems with the scholarship application process, reach out to department staff Laura Merrill lmerrill@uab.edu or Kelsea Nichols kelsn@uab.edu.

If you would like guidance about what to include in your scholarship application, reach out to a faculty member or two for advice.
SPECIAL TOPICS

In the B.A. and B.F.A. studio art curricula, you will see that you must take courses listed as ARS 495, “Special Topics.” These courses are exactly what they sound like: unique classes that change every semester.

Many Special topics courses are media specific—investigations into a specialized technique or topic in one studio area. Examples include Screenprinting and 3D Printing. Other special topics are interdisciplinary and are suitable for students in any discipline. If you see a faculty member listed in the UAB Course Catalog as teaching an ARS 495 class, feel free to reach out to them to ask for more info.

Some Special Topics courses, such as Book Arts and Web Design, are taught on a regular rotation (once every 1, 2, or 3 years). Other courses are taught only once, so sign up for a class if it looks interesting to you. It might be your only chance!

WORK-STUDY AND INTERNSHIPS

If you want to work while attending school, work-study might be perfect for you! Reach out to UAB’s Financial Aid office to ask about the work-study program. If you qualify, you could work with us here in the Departent, at AEIVA, or in many locations across campus. uab.edu/cost-aid

Also, while you’re a student (or soon after you graduate), internships are a great way to gain professional experience and jump-start your career. Ask your faculty advisors to point you towards internship opportunities in your field.

DIRECTED STUDIES

As you advance in your degree program, you might discover that you want to explore a niche concept or process. Or, you might be working on a big project that necessitates prolonged faculty feedback. In cases like these, you can enroll in Directed Studies courses with a faculty member of your choice. Of course, the first step is to reach out to the faculty member to express why you’re interested in pursuing Directed Studies, and to ask their permission to enroll with them. Faculty schedules get busy quickly, so it’s best to ask as soon as you can.

FACILITIES

Our classrooms, studios, and campus amenities are here to serve UAB students. Make good use of these resources and take care of them. They’re yours!

ART STUDIO/CLASSROOMS
We have dedicated studios for all 7 of our studio areas. These studios are accessible after hours, so you can get to work on your projects outside of class. We have two staff (Heather Holmes and Jacob Phillips) dedicated to keeping the studios safe and operational. Take care to follow all safety precautions and community guidelines when using UAB studio facilities.

BFA STUDIOS
Creating a BFA exhibition is a lot of work and takes a lot of stuff, so UAB offers individual studios for BFA students. Heather Holmes coordinates these studios and will be in touch with all BFA students about details.

UAB LIBRARIES
Did you know that UAB has a dedicated Arts Librarian? It’s true!! And the Mervin H. Sterne Library is right next to the art buildings, so it’s easy to stop by and ask for help. The libraries are useful for both Art History and Art Studio students. You’ll be amazed what you can find in a library that isn’t available on the internet! library.uab.edu

AEIVA

AEIVA is the Abroms-Engel Institute for the Visual Arts. The second floor houses Department of Art and Art History offices and classrooms, and the first floor is the home of AEIVA’s galleries. uab.edu/aeiva

AEIVA’s mission is to provide a cultural gateway that enriches and supports accessible learning, research, and thinking for the UAB community, Birmingham, and beyond, through transformative and challenging exhibitions, engaging programming, and purposeful collecting.

In addition to hosting exhibitions by artists from around the world, AEIVA also hosts two student exhibitions (Annual Juried Student Exhibition and BFA exhibition) every year.

Here’s the thing: not every campus has a world-class contemporary art museum on campus. You can walk out of class, go downstairs or across the street, and see some of the most vibrant and thought-provoking artwork being created today. Often, exhibiting artists give guest lectures and visit with students. If and when these opportunities arise, take advantage of them! Showing up to see art isn’t part of your grade, but it is part of your education.
PRO TIPS

quality images and attention to detail can take you from good to great (and can help you get awards and shows)

A PICTURE’S WORTH 1000 WORDS
Document your artwork as soon as you’ve made it. Take photos in good lighting against a solid background (you can pin up a bedsheet if you need to!) Organize your images, and always make a copy of the original photo before you crop or edit it.

SHARPEN YOUR WRITING SKILLS
uab.edu/writingcenter

SLOW DOWN AND ~ R E A D ~
Applications for awards, exhibitions, and other opportunities ask for very specific things. Sometimes applications will be disqualified if they are incomplete or don’t follow directions. Slow down and carefully read the instructions to make sure you got everything right.

USE A SECOND PAIR OF EYES
When preparing application materials it can be easy to overlook things. Ask a friend, colleague, or professor to look over your application materials. If they offer advice, take it! They’re trying to help.
