University of Alabama at Birmingham
CIPES Interprofessional Leadership Fellows Program

The University of Alabama at Birmingham Interprofessional Leadership (IPL) Fellows program is designed to develop faculty members’ interprofessional education (IPE) and leadership capacity. IPL Fellows will learn from and work with academic and practice leaders within the university as well as across the nation. As an interprofessional team, fellows will also design and execute a project to advance IPE efforts at UAB.

The second cohort of IPL Fellows will begin the 12-month program in May 2019.

BENEFITS TO THE FELLOW

- Participate in a 2.5-day national interprofessional faculty development program
- Develop and implement an interprofessional education project in collaboration with an interprofessional team of fellows.
- Access up to $5,000 per team, of seed funding to support new projects and scholarship.
- Build expertise as a change agent to advance interprofessional education.
- Gain knowledge, skills and strategies for facilitating and coaching faculty or IPE teams.
- Leverage coaching and resources for educational project design and scholarship development.
- Join a community of scholars striving to advance IPE across UAB.
- Access a national network of peers and leaders.

EXPECTATIONS OF THE FELLOWS

- As a team attend and fully participate in the IPEC faculty development program: 22 – 24 May, 2019
- Participate in CTL Workshops August - December 2019.
- Design and present an IPE workshop within the CTL IPE series in Spring 2020
- Participate in an interprofessional team of fellows to develop, execute and evaluate an IPE project.
