

NEW FAMILY RESOURCE ROOM UAB SPARKS CLINICS

Now available for the families who come to the UAB Sparks Clinics, a family resource room located in Room 101B, directly behind the main desk in the waiting area. The family resource room contains many pamphlets, brochures, and other documents covering a wide range of topics, including children's developmental ages and stages, speech-language milestones, temper tantrums, disciplining, biting, eating habits, toilet training, sleep, self-esteem, autism, school and special education programs, legal issues, AllKids insurance, and transportation assistance. These written brochures and pamphlets are available for our families to take home.

Also included is a computer for use by the families to access specific topic related websites. These topics include education, autism, speech-language, hearing impaired, ADHD, learning disorders, mental health, rehabilitation services, independent living, children's health and disabilities, family support and recreation, and are listed in a notebook by the computer. After accessing the website, you may print and take home any information from the website you feel is helpful to you, your child, and your family.

So while you're at Sparks, don't forget to visit our Resource Room!
