Many years after the fact, difficult U.S. histories such as slavery, Westward expansion, the Civil War, Japanese internment camps and Jim Crow remain difficult to address. However, current events -- protests around Confederate monuments, celebrities accused of cultural appropriation and white politicians in blackface -- serve as a stark reminder of the consequences of leaving difficult histories underexamined.

Join a panel of experts who will discuss "What makes difficult history so difficult?"

This event is free and open to the public.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 2019 | 6:00 - 8:00 PM
