It has been a busy time as Interim Dean, meeting and planning with the University administration, faculty, students, alumni, organized dentistry, and our funding agencies. As busy as it has been for the first few months, it has been equally rewarding and productive.

Being the “iDean,” as the student dentists put it, makes me feel like an Apple product such as an iPod or iPhone. Neither of which I thought I needed but probably would have a hard time living without today. Technology has dramatically changed workplaces and healthcare, and dentistry is no exception. Of course, being the iDean isn’t so bad if you consider that Apple has more money than the federal government! As I reflect on the history and legacy of the University of Alabama School of Dentistry, I am struck with the impact of its legacy of innovation and intuition. At the same time I look at the impact of computers and realize that being an institution which embraces innovation has tremendous advantages as we move forward.

At about the time the University of Alabama School of Dentistry was founded, Thomas Watson, the Chairman of IBM, was quoted as saying, “I think there is a world market for maybe five computers.” Obviously his intuition was a little off as it was IBM that introduced the PC in 1981 which forever changed the workplace.

Today our students (and faculty for that matter) rarely if ever venture into the library, yet have knowledge of every drug and disease their patients present with at their fingertips. Actually more correctly they have the information on the tips of their thumbs as they rapid-fire text messages and searches at frightening speed. It makes me wonder if there will be an increase in thumb and wrist overuse injuries in the future. Which brings me back to innovation and the University of Alabama macro-ergonomics approach known as 4-handed dentistry.

Macro-ergonomics is an approach that emphasizes a broad system view of design, examining organizational environments, culture, and work goals. It deals with the physical design of tools and the environment. Macro-ergonomics, also known as organizational design, began to receive recognition as a sub-discipline of ergonomics during the 1980s. However, it was already happening and being taught on the UAB campus long before that. At first dentists across the nation didn’t think they needed it and now would not know how to work without it. History tends to repeat itself.

Today we work in an era of electronic patient schedules and paperless patient records, in which digital radiography, digital photography and three-dimensional imaging are commonplace. Many restorations are CAD-CAM designed and digitally waxed, and digital impressions will likely be commonly used within five years. Fortunately the faculty at the School of Dentistry is intuitive and is leading the way once again toward tomorrow’s innovations. Which of course makes it a good time to be the iDean.

HONORS CONVOCATION

The School of Dentistry held its Honors Convocation on Thursday, June 2, 2011 at the Margaret Cameron Spain Auditorium on campus. Students from all four classes were brought together for recognition of their outstanding achievement. The ceremony marked the seventh year that Honors Convocation and Graduation were held as separate events.

Awards ranged from departmental awards to acknowledgment of the newly inducted members of Omicron Kappa Upsilon, the Dental Honor Society. Several endowed scholarship given each year include the Charles E. Smith Award given to Wade Whatley, the Chau Lam Award given to Sonia Knashama, and the Benjamin Ingram Award presented to Tom Whitaker.

This year more than 60 students were recognized for their outstanding achievement and $112,270 in scholarships and awards were announced.
Graduation

Graduation was held at the Alys Robinson Stephens Performing Arts Center on June 4, 2011. The Class of 2011 was comprised of 57 students who eagerly accepted their diplomas. Featured speakers included Dr. Ronald Tankersley, DDS, Immediate Past President of the American Dental Association who delivered the Lister Hill Lecture, Dr. Jimmy Hawkins, President-Elect of the University of Alabama Dental School Alumni Association, and Dr. Kim Stiegler, President-Elect of the Alabama Dental Association.

Dean Thomas presented the Dean's Medal, which is the most coveted honor presented to a member of the graduating class, to Clay McEntire. The Dean personally selects the recipient in recognition of outstanding scholarship and leadership.

After reciting the Dentist's Pledge and receiving a standing ovation, the graduates joined family, friends, and faculty members for a reception in their honor.

The 2011 White Coat Ceremony was held on Thursday, August 18 at the Alys Stephens Performing Arts Center. The entering freshman class consists of 55 students.

Guest speakers included Dr. Tony Dollar, President of the University of Alabama School of Dentistry Alumni Association and Dr. Edward Callahan, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Hinman Dental Society.

This year marked the fourth year that the Freshman class composed their own ethics statement. Freshmen Class President, presented the statement during the ceremony that each student signed prior to receiving their White Coats.

The White Coat Ceremony has been partially sponsored by the Alabama Dental Alumni Association since its inception in 1999. The purpose of the ceremony is to welcome the incoming class to the profession by presenting them with their white coats and a School of Dentistry lapel pin and to address the importance of ethics, leadership, and professionalism in the field of dentistry.
How to Make Your Alumni Association Better

Like many other organizations, the School of Dentistry Alumni Association must be proactive and creative to continue its impact on the school, our students, and our future. The adage of “strength in numbers” holds true for the Alumni Association. Your School of Dentistry Alumni Association membership is 1,262 strong, but can be much stronger. While membership saw a modest increase last year, there has been a general decline or non-growth the past few years. That is the national norm. According to the U.S. Department of Labor, volunteerism declined again last year. Young professional volunteerism and membership is particularly challenging. About 22 percent of the 25 to 34 year old age group volunteer for some organization. The Alumni Association offers many, many benefits to those who join. First, members can participate in our Alumni Weekend, now the largest dental continuing education forum in the state. The speakers are world class. Second, alumni dues help support the school. Our graduates may give individually, but the Association also supports scholarships, student travel, Graduation, the White Coat Ceremony, and other school activities. Third, there are many opportunities to network through alumni gatherings, where the focus is on your association with the school. Finally, through a cooperative agreement with the UAB National Alumni Association, our members receive discounts from numerous retailers and service providers.

As a graduate of the School of Dentistry, don’t you want your Alumni Association to be recognized as the best? Here’s a few thoughts on how you can help:

- Encourage non-members to join the Alumni Association
- Volunteer to help with Alumni Weekend or other special events
- Be an advocate for the school and refer potential students to the Admissions Department
- Stress the importance to young alumni the importance of being involved

Your Alumni Association has a great relationship with other dental organizations (in and out-of-state). True, there is a lot of overlap in membership. However, each organization has a unique mission. If the Alumni Association is to continue to have a strong voice and do great things for our members and for dental education, membership and participation must grow. Our officers and staff value your input and we would love to hear from you.

On a final note, as I have done the last few years, I would like to predict the outcome of the Alabama-Auburn game. Last year I picked the Tide and had to eat crow as the Tigers not only won in historic fashion, but also captured the national championship. This year the game is down on the Plain. My prediction in another classic: Alabama 27 Auburn 26

Sincerely,

J. Scott Huffman, CFRE
Executive Director
The Excellence for Endodontics Campaign has eclipsed the $900,000 mark thanks to the support of generous alumni. Funds raised will be used to renovate the endodontic clinic. The clinic will be moved from the fourth to fifth floor. Renovations should be completed in 2012.

The Excellence for Endodontics Campaign steering committee is chaired by Dr. Joel Hearn of Florence and under the direction of Department of Endodontics Chairman Dr. Paul Eleazer. Steering committee members include: Dr. Bradley Alley (Huntsville), Dr. Jim Ballard (Birmingham), Dr. John D. Barnes (Huntsville), Dr. Stanley Beard (Jackson), Dr. Brian Bozeman (Santa Rosa, CA), Dr. Lee Van Carroll (Dothan), Dr. Norman Ford (Columbus, MS), Dr. John Lightfoot (Montgomery), Dr. Paul McCrary (Huntsville), Dr. Carol Merkle (Ft. Walton Beach, FL), Dr. Jim Mills (Tuscaloosa), Dr. David Norrington (Austell, GA), Dr. Jim Smith (Birmingham), Dr. Donnie Sutton (Gadsden), Dr. Gerry Weinacker, (Mobile), Dr. Derek White (Jackson, MS), and Dr. Gary Wolanek (Auburn).

Dentsply Tulsa Dental made a gift of $400,000. The clinic will bear the company’s name. To date, approximately twenty alumni have made gifts of $10,000 or more. Several have given at the $25,000 level. The School of Dentistry will also provide funds.

The endodontic clinic has not undergone a major renovation since 1975. “This renovation is for the DMD students and the endodontic residents,” says Joel Hearn, DMD. “Our endodontic facilities will now mirror the outstanding training that has been the program’s hallmark,” says Hearn.

The clinic is one of the busiest facilities in the school. Dental students and residents provide surgical and nonsurgical endodontic care to about 2,500 patients annually. The state-of-the-art clinic will act as a classroom where students and residents obtain a valuable portion of their education leading to board certification. An important aspect will be the one-on-one faculty supervision of student procedures.

“I want to thank Dr. Hearn and our fundraising committee for their efforts,” says Paul Eleazer, DDS, Chair of the Department of Endodontics. “Their hard work, combined with the phenomenal support of our alumni, are the reasons for the project’s success,” says Eleazer.

IN MEMORIUM

Arthur Gene Clifford Sr. passed away peacefully on June 3 with his children by his side in Huntsville. He was a resident of Guntersville, having moved there in 2007 from Birmingham. Born in Birmingham on Sept. 30, 1930, he grew up in Talladega. He went on to attend the University of Alabama and received his doctoral degree in dentistry in 1955 and became very accomplished and respected in the field of fixed prosthetic dentistry.

Arthur Gene entered the U.S. Army, retiring as a colonel in 1976, whereupon he was awarded the Legion of Merit. He went on to head the graduate program in fixed prosthodontics at the University of Alabama School of Dentistry. He retired from UAB in 1989 and went on to travel extensively and pursue his passion for landscaping, among many other interests.

He was a quiet and modest man who touched the lives of many people with his smile and generosity. Art loved life, the outdoors, traveling, gardening, dancing and being with his loved ones. He never met a yard he didn't like, and his craftsmanship and masonry skills in landscaping can be seen throughout Alabama and the United States at the homes of his friends and loved ones.

He is forever remembered by his beloved children, Arthur Gene Jr. and his wife Karen of Sedalia, Colo.; Camilla Lynn of Nashville; and Charles Leonard of Stevenson Ranch, Calif.; treasured grandchildren, Clifford, Ashley and Courtney; his longtime girlfriend, Gay Rutherford of Guntersville; special cousin, Martha Frances of Fredericksburg, Texas; and cousin, Pete Clifford of Birmingham. Countless other friends and family were blessed to know him. Arthur Gene was predeceased by his devoted parents, L.E. and Lorene Clifford and infant brother, Leonard Eugene Jr.

Dr. Albert Gordon Goodall Jr., Age 81 of Helena, passed away on July 25, 2011. He was preceded in death by his parents, Dr. Albert Gordon and Pattie Malone Goodall, Sr.; and his first wife, Bebe Clark Goodall. He is survived by his wife, Carolyn Chapman Goodall; his sister, Pattie (Gordon) Robertson; his brother, Dr. Harrison (Lorraine) Goodall; his children, Virginia Goodall, Susan (Carl) Smith, Pattie (Michael) Rietmaier, A. G. (Celeste) Goodall, III, Tammy (Doug) O'Shields, Bill (Kim) Tanner, Jr., Martha (Mark) Graham; his grandchildren, Pam (Gary) Stanley, Carl (Angela) Smith, Jr., Jeffrey (Jennifer) Johnson, Amy (John) Walker, Alan (Bethany) Rietmaier, Jonathan (MaryAnn) Stanfield, Sarah O'Shields, Pattie Lane Rietmaier, Emily Goodall, Joshua O'Shields, A. Gordon Goodall, IV, Landon Graham, Dexter Tanner, Mandy Tanner; 8 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. Dr. Goodall graduated from Vanderbilt University in 1951 and received his DDS from the University of Alabama at Birmingham's School of Dentistry in 1955. He later served as a captain in the United States Air Force. He practiced dentistry for 50 years in Gardendale until he retired in 2004. He was very active in helping the community grow, was a president of the Chamber of Commerce and was honored as “Man of the Year.” He was also an active lifelong member of First Christian Church as a Deacon, Elder, Elder Emeritus, past Chairman of the Board, Sunday school teacher, and a member of the chancel and handbell choirs. After he retired, he served the church by baking communion bread, polishing silver and delivering The Visitor to the post office each week. He loved to sing, play golf, play games, do crossword puzzles and take the “road less traveled”.

He followed the Braves, Auburn, Southern Mississippi and underdog Vanderbilt. A Celebration of Life service was held on Wednesday, August 3, at First Christian Church.

Dr. William Oscar Sessions, who practiced dentistry for more than 40 years in Tillman's Corner and taught himself the shrimping business, passed away on June 20. He was 87. Sessions was born April 20, 1924, to Walter and Essie May Sessions in Birmingham. He joined the U.S. Navy at age 17 and went on to become a machinist mate first class and a hardhat diver, and saw action in World War II and the Korean War. During his time of military service, he was wounded by enemy fire, but was never recognized because he removed his own shrapnel and continued duty at his post, relatives wrote in his obituary. After his military service, Sessions married Norma Elizabeth Dees and enrolled in the University of Alabama. By the time he graduated from dental school in 1957, he had 5 children. As a dentist in Tillman's Corner, he was a member of the Mobile Dental Society. In 1967, he bought several large shrimp boats and taught himself the shrimping business; learning to design and build shrimp nets, while continuing his dental practice. Sessions regularly gave away dental work to those who couldn't afford it, and often accepted fish, produce, or baked goods as payment. One of his quotes was, "if you are feeling bad or sorry for yourself, go out and find someone to help," according to his obituary. Sessions shunned the spotlight so many of his accomplishments were uncelebrated, friends and relatives wrote in his obituary. In 1970, Sessions pioneered a procedure to prevent overcrowding of permanent teeth by removing the tooth buds before the crowding began.

Sessions is survived by his wife of 63 years, Norma Elizabeth Dees Sessions; his children, Deborah Cheeseman, William "Bill" Sessions Jr., Wayne Sessions, Gayle Hill, Teresa "Terrie" Harwood; sisters Aratha Oliver, Willadean Holsomback, Juanita Lott, Shirley Hobbs and Christine Williams; brother, Walter Presley Sessions; 17 grandchildren; 33 great-grandchildren; and numerous other relatives and friends.
