University of Alabama at Birmingham
School of Education
Department of Human Studies
Assistant/Associate Faculty Position in Clinical Mental Health Counseling and Marriage, Couples, and Family

The Department of Human Studies in the School of Education at the University of Alabama at Birmingham seeks applications for a full-time, tenure track, core faculty position to begin August 2019. Salary and terms of appointment are commensurate with prior experience. Position includes a 9-month salary and benefits package.

Duties
This search focuses on recruiting candidates interested in collaborating with a variety of disciplines across campus to establish a line of innovative and fundable research that makes a substantial new contribution to the literature. The selected candidate will be responsible for: teaching core classes and classes within the Clinical Mental Health and the Marriage, Couples, and Family concentrations (e.g., relationships and sexuality, career, diversity, advanced marriage and family techniques); engaging in research; securing intramural and external research funds; advising graduate students; clinical supervision in the UAB Community Counseling Clinic; and university, local, regional, or national service.

Minimum Requirements for Consideration
- Receipt of an earned doctorate in Counselor Education from a CACREP accredited university
- A clear counselor educator identity
- Licensure or a minimum 2 years post-master’s clinical experience
- Familiarity with CACREP accreditation standards and processes
- Research publications in recognized, national journals
- A track record for obtaining external funding (or the significant potential to establish such a record).
- Evidence of effective teaching and a minimum of 2 years of supervision in Clinical Mental Health and Marriage, Couples, and Family
- Evidence of professionalism, collegiality, and team orientation
- Experience with on-line and other technology-assisted instruction

UAB School of Education
The UAB School of Education is home to a diverse array of undergraduate and graduate programs in areas such as educator preparation, counselor education, community health and human services, and kinesiology. Our programs are accredited by relevant organizations, and are staffed by world-class faculty. They integrate technology and exemplify best practices in teaching—making learning both engaging and rewarding. Through collaboration with our school district and agency partners, our programs provide frequent and early opportunities for field experiences, culminating in the kinds of internships that promote success in future employment. The UAB School of Education’s innovative programs prepare our students well for the diverse world of today and Institutional Context
The University of Alabama at Birmingham became an autonomous campus within The University of Alabama System in 1969 and, in the four decades since, has grown into a world-renowned research university and medical center, occupying 86 city blocks in Alabama’s largest metropolitan area. UAB is the state’s largest single-site employer with more than 23,000 employees, and is recognized among the top 100 universities in the world for life sciences and diversity. UAB has attracted more than $503 million in research funding and currently ranks 32nd nationally in federal research funding and 20th in funding from the National Institutes of Health. UAB Hospital is the only hospital in the state to be listed in every issue of U.S. News & World Report’s “America’s Best Hospitals,” which recognizes only three percent of hospitals nationwide, and ranks first locally for patient satisfaction in HHS surveys. UAB’s economic impact on Alabama now exceeds $5 billion annually and supports more than 61,000 jobs statewide. The Innovation Depot, in which UAB is a founding partner, is the largest business incubator in the Southeast, with 92 start-up companies, 500 employees and a $1.4 billion sales impact over the past five years.

Location
The City of Birmingham, Alabama, is the largest city in the state with a population currently estimated at 242,820, and a metro population of 1,079,089. Nestled at the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains at the cross-section of two major railroads, the city was once the primary industrial center of the southern United States. Today, Birmingham has transformed itself into a medical research, banking and service-based economy, making it one of the nation's most livable cities with a vibrant downtown, a burgeoning loft community, a world-class culinary scene and more green space per capita than any other city in the nation.

How to Apply
To be considered for candidacy, applicants should submit applications online through the UAB People Admin online system using the following link http://uab.peopleadmin.com

Applicants will be required to supply a set of refereed scholarly publications. Interested persons should also submit a letter of application addressing the position qualifications and responsibilities, curriculum vitae, official transcripts for all college work, and the names, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three professional references to:

Lawrence Tyson, PhD, UAB School of Education, Department of Human Studies Room 152, 1720 2nd Avenue South, Birmingham, Alabama 35294-1250.

Review of applicants will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Questions and nominations should be directed to Lawrence Tyson at ltyson@uab.edu
UAB is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer committed to fostering a diverse, equitable and family-friendly environment in which all faculty and staff can excel and achieve work/life balance irrespective of, race, national origin, age, genetic or family medical history, gender, faith, gender identity and expression as well as sexual orientation. UAB also encourages applications from individuals with disabilities and veterans.

A pre-employment background investigation is performed on candidates selected for employment.