Welcome to the University of Alabama at Birmingham, home of the UAB Blazers!

It is a great time to be in Birmingham. The population of the city center is increasing thanks to exciting new living and dining options in areas such as Parkside, the Loft District, and Lakeview, and we are proud of beautiful new green spaces such as Railroad Park, Rotary Trail, and Red Mountain Park. In 2021 Birmingham will host the World Games, and we just landed a USL soccer team for 2019. There is more to see and do in Birmingham than ever before, and our job at ISSS is to make sure that you have the time and peace of mind to enjoy every opportunity.

UAB was instrumental in Birmingham's urban renaissance and has helped the city transform from an industrial economy to one based largely on medical, legal, banking, and technical services. The international community plays a large and important role in the University's continued success and in Birmingham's international renown. We are glad to have you on campus!

Our dedicated staff has decades of experience advising international students and scholars on tax, immigration, and cultural issues. Please don't hesitate to drop by the international center or contact us at any time.

ABOUT ISSS

International Student & Scholar Services (ISSS) facilitates international exchange and understanding through multi-cultural programs and services. We are the principal administrative and advising office for all international students and scholars. The role of ISSS is to expand and strengthen international ties among the individuals and academic programs on our campus and to encourage the exchange of ideas and information key to developing international awareness.

Most importantly, ISSS advises individuals and academic departments on matters pertaining to federal rules and regulations affecting international students and scholars; evaluates financial certificates of all undergraduate and graduate applicants; processes immigration documentation; and provides orientation services.

All new international students face similar situations upon their arrival, including finding accommodation, registering for classes, making friends, and learning where things are.

This book has been prepared especially to help international students adjust to life in the US and contains information about services, policies, and programs at UAB. Please read it carefully, and let us know if you have questions. We look forward to working with you!

INTRO TO ALABAMA HISTORY

Alabama becomes a second home to people from all over the world as they experience the southern hospitality of our beautiful state. With a population of over 4.8 million, Alabama boasts urban centers with a “big city” feel without the overwhelming pressure of living in a hectic environment. If you prefer the quiet of the country, that’s available, too. Alabama has the slow pace of the old south mixed with the cutting-edge science and technology of the twenty-first century.

Originally explored by the Spanish in the sixteenth century, and later claimed by the French in the seventeenth century, southern Alabama reflects both French and Spanish influences in some of its traditions, architecture, and cuisine. For instance, the coastal city of Mobile has celebrated Mardi Gras since 1703. Southern Alabama is also a region of rare wetlands, sugar white beaches along the Gulf of Mexico, and biological restoration sites for sea turtles and other endangered species. Central Alabama is the home of Birmingham, with its major hospitals and research centers and historic sites from the Civil Rights era. Montgomery, Selma, and Tuskegee share in this historic legacy. Many state parks in central and north Alabama provide wonderful hiking, golfing, and camping options, giving our state the nickname “Alabama the Beautiful.” In northern Alabama, Huntsville houses the NASA Space and Rocket Center; Florence hosts the WC Handy Jazz Festival; and nearby Tuscumbia preserves the birthplace of Helen Keller.

CLIMATE

Birmingham is in the Central Standard Time zone. Average yearly temperatures range from 27° C/81° F in the summer to 9° C/33° F in the winter. Local meteorologist James Spann, weatherman for Channel ABC 33/40, is something of a celebrity. He has his own Twitter feed (@spann) and blog (www.alabamawx.com). When there is dangerous weather (severe thunderstorms, tornado) approaching, a civil defense siren will sound in the downtown area. Take cover, preferably in a basement room or interior hallway with no windows, and wait for the weather to pass. The siren is also tested on the first Wednesday of every month at 10 AM, so don’t be scared! If you are listening to the radio, you will also likely hear three strange bursts of noise followed by what sounds like static. This sound pattern indicates that the National Weather Service will interrupt regular programming to issue a severe weather warning for certain counties for certain timeframes.

LOCAL AND REGIONAL TRANSPORTATION

AIRPORT

The Birmingham-Shuttlesworth International Airport is about 20 minutes from downtown and offers direct flights to most major southern cities. For air travel outside the southeast, you will often need to make a connecting flight in Atlanta, or drive to Atlanta and fly directly from there (sometimes a less expensive option). Despite the name, the only international flights from Birmingham are to Mexico and the Caribbean.

TRAIN

Amtrak provides daily passenger train service throughout the US. The train station is located at 1 19th Street North, Birmingham, AL 35203, 1-800-872-7245. Many Birminghamians take the Crescent Train to New Orleans (known as the “Crescent City”) for the weekend.

BUS

- Max (Metro Area Express) provides bus service throughout metro Birmingham and trolley car (“Dart”) lines in the downtown area. For schedules and routes, visit www.bjcta.org. Adult bus tickets cost $1.25. Carry exact change.
- Greyhound provides bus service throughout the US and Canada, (205) 252-7190
- Wanderu offers discounted tickets on multiple routes, including Birmingham to Atlanta
- Akai Bus runs service to New York
- Megabus runs from Birmingham to Atlanta and Memphis

CAR

- Taxi (or “cab”) companies operating in the Birmingham metro area include:
 - American Cab Company, (205) 322-2222
 - Yellow Cab Company, (205) 328-4444
- UBER and Lyft are smartphone app-based car service companies providing immediate pick-up from local, independent drivers. You must provide a credit card number to use these apps.

DRIVING AND BUYING/RENTING A CAR

APPLYING FOR AN ALABAMA DRIVER LICENSE

It is illegal to drive in the US without carrying a state-issued photo identification card known as a driver license. All international students who are in good standing at UAB and lawfully maintaining their immigration status can apply for an Alabama driver license. You must bring a vehicle for the road test. If you do not have an International Driver License (IDL), you must find a licensed driver to drive you to the office. We highly recommend that you carry your IDL if you have one—Alabama authorities may not accept your home country driver license without an accompanying IDL. You can learn more about the driver license process here.

In Birmingham, all non-US citizens must apply for an Alabama driver license at the Alabama Department of Public Safety located at:

908 Bankhead Highway West
Birmingham, AL 35204
Phone: (205) 252-7445

To obtain a driver license, you must pass both a written test and a road test. You must provide a vehicle for the road test. Practice driving the vehicle in an empty parking lot prior to taking the road test so that you’re comfortable driving before being tested. You must find a licensed driver who will drive you to the office and let you use the car for the road test. Proof of auto insurance is required. During the road test, an examiner will inspect the car to see that it is fully functional (e.g., that the horn, lights, brakes, and turn signals work) and then will ride with you in your car for few minutes to ensure that your vehicle is in good condition, you understand how the car works, and you obey traffic rules. The examiner will also ask you to perform basic driving maneuvers. The written and road tests are offered Monday through Friday from 7:00 a.m. to 4 p.m. You can schedule an appointment here, or try your luck and show up as early as possible. Tests are administered on a first-come, first-serve basis. A study guide is available here.

Bring the following documents with you to the Bankhead office to apply for your Alabama driver license:

- Passport valid for at least six more months (containing your F-1 student visa)
- Most recent Form I-94 (download and print it here)
- Social Security Card (or Internal Revenue Service Form W-2 containing your SSN)
 - OR “denial letter” from the Social Security Administration stating non-eligibility if you are unemployed, J-1, F-2 (see below)
- Your signed, original Form I-20 valid for at least 160 more days
- Letter of Good Standing from ISSS
- DMV Certification letter from ISSS
- Employment Authorization Document (ONLY for those on OPT--the license expiration date will be based upon your EAC)
- $5 test or transfer fee (credit/debit card or cash only)
- Credit/debit card or cash for driver license fee (currently $36.25)

For more information and updated license fees, visit the Department of Public Safety website.

Be aware that many local government offices are severely understaffed. While this is no excuse, you may encounter stressed, impatient, or even rude employees who do not display sensitivity toward other cultures. Please remain patient and calm, and try not to take such behavior personally.

If you do not have—or are ineligible to obtain—an SSN (for instance, if you are an F-1 who is not employed, or an F-2 who is ineligible for work authorization), you must request a “denial letter” from the local Social Security Administration office, located at 1200 Reverend Abraham Woods, Jr. Boulevard, Birmingham, AL 35285. (You should drive or bike there; it is too far to walk from the UAB campus.) The office is open from 9:00 a.m. through 4:00 p.m. on Monday through Friday, except holidays. The denial letter should state that you are ineligible for an SSN. Present the denial letter along with the above documents at the Bankhead Highway office.

If you do not receive your license in 30 days, call the Driver License Division at (334) 242-4400.

IMPORTANT

A driver license cannot be renewed until within 30 days of its expiration date. In order to apply for or renew a driver license, you must have at least 160 days (not including grace periods) left in your immigration status as reflected by the program or status end date on your Form I-20.

BUYING A CAR

Buying from a car dealership:

- You may buy a new car or used car from a car dealership. Some dealerships have a single “make” (brand) focus, such as Toyota or Honda, while others sell multiple makes and models.
- Used cars available for purchase at a dealership are trade-ins: someone sold their old car to the dealership and then bought a new car from the dealership (gaining the trade-in value).
- Dealership-owned cars may be more expensive than cars purchased from an individual.
- The “sticker” price is the price literally stuck to the windshield of the car. Never pay the sticker price! You can always negotiate the price of the car lower.
- A used car salesman is a running joke in American culture. Do not be scammed or pressured by sales tactics. Take your time, ask all the questions you want, and negotiate the best possible price.

Buying from an individual:

- People will advertise their car for sale online (such as at www.craigslist.com), by taping flyers to telephone poles, or by posting on bulletin boards throughout campus.
- Beware: not all advertisements are legitimate, so use caution. If the offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is. The best advice is to walk away from such ads.
- Check the car’s value on Kelley Blue Book or www.truecar.com to see if the advertised price is fair.
- Ask the seller for a CarFax report. If the seller refuses to provide one, ask for the car’s VIN number and look it up online yourself. CarFax is not free, however it will provide information on the previous owner and reported car accidents.

Before agreeing to purchase a car:

- Visually inspect the car. If you are not sure whether the car is in good condition, ask the owner to meet you at a mechanic shop and ask a mechanic to inspect the vehicle for you. Specifically look for:
 - Leaks – Look for dark stains or puddles under the car indicating that oil or brake fluid is leaking.
 - Body – Look for any type of rust or “bubbling” under the car’s paint. Check the wheel wells, door edges, and trunk floor and lid. Bring a small magnet and try attaching it to different exterior surfaces. If it does not stick, the car may have been repaired with temporary plastic parts, possibly after an accident.
 - Steering – Before turning on the ignition, unlock and turn the steering wheel. There should not be a lot of motion or “play.” When driving, the steering column should not vibrate.
 - Engine and Transmission – The car should start and accelerate smoothly. If there is any bucking, skipping, hesitation, or noise, the car will probably need expensive repairs. Gears should shift smoothly and quietly.
 - Tires – Bald tires, or multiple brands of tires, on a car whose odometer reads only 10,000 miles could mean that the odometer has been “rolled back” or disconnected. Check for uneven tire wear indicating an accident or alignment problem. Examine the trunk and spare tire equipment. Make sure all the necessary parts of the jack are there and that there are no water leaks in the trunk.
 - Suspension – Push and pull the top of each front tire. If it moves or makes a noise, the bearings or suspension joints could be badly worn. Push down with your body weight on each fender and make the car bounce up and down a few times. Then give the car one more downward push and release it; the car should bounce back up and stop moving. If the car does not level off and continues to bounce, it may need repairs or new shock absorbers.

- Interior – Check window controls, seat belts, seat adjusters, warning lights, wipers, washers, radio, heater, and air conditioner. Check the seats for comfort, broken springs, and torn seat covers. Have a friend stand in front of and behind the car while you turn on the headlights, turn signals, parking lights, and brake lights. Look at the rubber pedal pads; if they are greatly worn or new, but the car has low mileage, ask questions. Check along window seams for water leaks.
- Alignment – Drive straight, through a puddle if possible, with a friend standing behind the car. The front and rear wheels should follow each other in a straight line. If the car moves even slightly to one side, then it was probably in an accident and has a bent frame. This is very expensive to repair. Do not buy the car!
- Brakes – Drive the car at 45 mph on a quiet road and apply the brakes firmly without locking them. Do this three times. The car should come to a quick stop without swerving, and the brakes should not vibrate or grab. When you stop the car completely, push the brake pedal down. It should stop well above the floor. If it goes down close to the floor or feels spongy, there may be a brake fluid leak or problems with the master cylinder. These repairs can be very expensive.
- Oil Use – After the engine has warmed up, drive the car at highway speed and take your foot off the gas pedal for a few seconds. Then, press the gas pedal down hard for two seconds and have a friend look for exhaust smoke. Blue smoke means the car is burning oil. Black smoke means the fuel system may need a minor adjustment.

Do not provide any type of payment or deposit to see and/or test drive a vehicle! Pay for the vehicle only when you take possession of it.

- Take the car on a test drive.
- Check the odometer. Unscrupulous sellers will try to “roll back” the mileage on a car to make it seem younger or have less wear and tear on it than it truly does.
- Ask if the car has ever been in an accident.
- Inquire about the car’s title (record or chain of ownership). If the car has a “salvaged” title, it was in an accident and deemed a total loss by an insurance company. Cars with salvaged titles are difficult to insure in Alabama, and proof of auto insurance is required by law.

If you are arrested for driving under the influence (“DUI”) of drugs or alcohol, your visa can be REVOKED. You may not be immediately notified of the revocation and may find out only after you travel abroad and try to re-enter the US. Please do NOT endanger your life or your visa status by participating in this illegal activity. Call a friend, call a taxi, or use the Uber or Lyft apps to find a ride home.

AUTO INSURANCE

Alabama law requires all drivers to carry liability insurance to help pay for any damage or injury you cause to others in a car accident. Your policy must cover at least $25,000 for bodily injury or death per person, or $50,000 total for bodily injury or death per accident. More information is available here.

BIKING

The combination of the Rotary Trail and the Zypbike bikeshare program has made cycling an increasing popular pastime and mode of transportation in Birmingham. Be careful when biking in the downtown area, and stay within marked bike lanes. Biking on sidewalks is not allowed. Birmingham drivers are not good at driving near cyclists. Wear a helmet, and use a light and/or wear reflective gear when biking at night.

You will find ads for used bikes in the classified advertising section. See the UAB Reporter, Kaleidoscope, or Thrifty Nickel (<http://birmingham.thriftynickel.com/>). Used bikes are also sold at garage/yard sales, which are advertised by yard signs on street corners, flyers taped to telephone poles, and at <http://classifieds.al.com/>.

If you can't borrow a bike or buy one from a friend or colleague, the following businesses have a great selection:

Bob's Bikes

1944 28th Avenue South
Homewood, AL 35209
(205) 879-2258

Cahaba Cycles (multiple locations, new and used)

2834 18th Street South
Homewood, AL 35209
(205) 879-3244

Wal-Mart Supercenter

209 Lakeshore Pkwy
Homewood, AL 35209

Redemptive Cycles

1305 2nd Avenue North
Birmingham, AL 35203
(205) 224-5631

Birmingham Ride Share Facebook page: www.facebook.com/groups/bhamridefinder/

Redemptive Cycles offers a 10-mile group/guided ride every Thursday at 6:00 p.m., rain or shine.

AVOID THEFT!! Locks are available at bike shops and stores like Wal-Mart. UAB Police advise buying a lock that cannot be cut with bolt cutters and strongly suggest storing your bicycle inside your dorm/house/apartment.

Zypbike

Zypbikes are bright green bicycles found at solar-powered charging stations all over the downtown and Southside areas. By purchasing a card, downloading the Zypbike app, or using a key fob, you can unlock bikes across the city and ride them to another Zypbike station near your destination. You can rent the bikes for various timeframes (e.g., $6 for a 24-hour membership, $20 for a 7-day membership) or become a member and have fulltime access to the bikes. Bikes must be turned in to another docking station within 45 minutes or overage charges will apply, but you can as many times a day as you like. If the station you want to dock the bike at is full, you can still leave the bike there by following instructions on the kiosk screen.

Rotary Trail

In April 2016, Birmingham's Rotary Club reclaimed a stretch of abandoned railroad track and opened a new half-mile walking and biking trail. Look for the landmark "Rotary Trail in the Magic City" sign on 20th Street at the intersection of 1st Avenue South. www.traillink.com/trail/rotary-trail.aspx

HOUSING

Most international students who live off campus will rent an apartment or a room in a house. A rental agreement is called a lease. Some leases are month-to-month (meaning you can leave after any given month, with no obligation to keep renting a particular dwelling for any specific length of time), some are for 6 or 9 months, and some are for a year or two. Consider how long you want to live in a certain place before signing a long lease. Some rental companies will also allow you to move in or out only in certain months. Since this is a University town, many landlords will want you to start your lease in August or early September and move out the following July. You may also have to pay a security deposit (usually equal to one month's rent) up front—the rental company will hold this money to cover the cost of repairs if you damage the apartment. When visiting an apartment complex or rental house, ask the agent the following questions so that you can make the best decision on where to live, and for how long.

- How much is the monthly rent, and on what day is it due?
- Can I pay rent online, or do I need to bring a check?
- Does the monthly rent include any utilities (e.g., water, electricity, gas, phone (if you want a landline), cable/satellite TV, internet)? If so, which ones?
- Do you require a security deposit? If so, is the security deposit refundable at the end of the lease?
- How long are your rental terms (month-to-month, 6 months, one year)?
- What will I owe if I have to break my lease before the end of the agreement?
- Does the lease renew automatically? If so, when will I be notified of any increase in rent?
- How much notice do you require if I plan to move out when the lease ends?
- Can I sublet (find another, temporary tenant whose name is not on the lease) the apartment/house if I leave the area for a brief period or the summer? If yes, what is the procedure?

- Are there laundry facilities? If not, where is the nearest laundromat (a public/community laundry facility)?
- Do you offer furnished apartments?
- Where is the nearest grocery store?
- Can I hang wall decorations with nails? (Some landlords do not allow this, or will deduct a certain amount from your security deposit to repair nail holes.)
- If parking is available, is it in a garage, parking lot, or street? Is the parking area secured?
- Is parking covered in the rent, or is there an extra charge?
- Are there an assigned number of parking spaces per unit? Where can visitors/guests park?
- Are pets allowed? Is there a maximum size? Weight? Height? Type?
- Is there a pet deposit? How much is it? Is it refundable?
- Do you have childcare facilities? If so, what is the cost?
- Where is the nearest school or daycare?
- Where is the nearest playground or park?

When looking for an apartment or house, find a place where you will be comfortable for the duration of your time renting. You will enter a formal agreement, called a lease, with a landlord (owner or manager of the apartment). A lease is a contract under which a landlord allows you (a tenant) temporary use of a dwelling in return for monthly payments (rent). A lease is a legally binding obligation. Make sure you feel safe, happy, and comfortable where you plan to live. If you make a bad decision and want to move before the end of the lease, you may have to pay the remaining months' rent in order to get out of your lease.

Apartments and houses are for rent all over downtown and Southside. UAB's Off Campus Student Services office can also assist with questions regarding off campus housing. Please see their website for contact details and be sure to check their property listings: <https://offcampushousing.uab.edu/>. TIPS FOR FINDING A ROOMMATE

Finding someone to share your apartment or house is not only a good idea financially (you can split the rent!), but is also an easy way to meet new people, avoid loneliness, and share experiences. However, there are many cultural and lifestyle considerations to think about before asking a stranger to share your space. Before beginning a roommate search, describe the kind of person you would want to find in your home after a long day in the lab, at the library, or in lectures. Then describe the kind of person you would not want to find at home.

Once you have an idea of your perfect roommate, post an ad on UAB bulletin boards, in the Kaleidoscope campus newspaper, on websites such as www.craigslist.com or www.roommates.com, and on social media. Ask your friends and colleagues if they know anyone looking to share an apartment or house.

Before deciding who to live with, interview each potential roommate thoroughly. On the phone or over coffee, discuss:

- Sleep habits: Are you a night person or a morning person? Different schedules could negatively affect your sleep and studies.
- Visitors: especially during the week and on days when you have a morning class. This includes girlfriends/boyfriends and possible “sleepovers.”
- Chores: Who will take out the trash? Are you a neat freak? Who will clean the bathroom?
- Personal belongings: Will everyone have use of the furniture in common areas? Who has a TV? Does someone have a special chair they don’t want anyone else to sit in? Would you prefer your roommate and guests to remove their shoes when in your home?

- Smoking: If your apartment or house does not have a porch, deck, or patio, will you allow smoking in the house? Some leases will contain a no-smoking policy.
- Pets: Number? Kind? Size? Does your house/apartment complex even allow pets at all?
- "Significant others" (boyfriend/girlfriend): If the potential roommate is in a relationship, clarify whether their partner will be moving in, too, and if so, what part of the rent they will pay.
- Allergies: Nuts? Dust mites? Dogs? Seafood? Peanuts? Your favorite spice? Citrus? Perfume?
- Religious or cultural dietary restrictions: Vegetarian? Kosher? Halaal? Alcohol? Vegan? Can everyone agree on food storage and preparation and be respectful of each other's needs?

Also consider asking a potential roommate for the contact information of their previous landlords and/or employers, or for a list of personal references. Contact the listed individuals to learn more about the potential roommate, such as why their previous lease/employment ended, were any complaints received about the potential roommate, and whether they paid rent on time and in the full amount.

Discuss the amount of rent, the monthly due date, and any required security deposit before your roommate moves in. Remember: your best friend may not always be the best roommate! Living with someone can be very different from hanging out with them on weekends or chatting in the breakroom.

What would you do if all your personal possessions - laptop, TV, Xbox, cell phone, mp3 player, calculator, textbooks, clothing - were stolen or destroyed in a flood, fire, or burglary?

We hope you never experience such a loss, but just in case...

GET RENTER'S INSURANCE!

YOUR RESIDENTIAL ADDRESS

Once you find a place to live, and every time you change where you live, you MUST update your address at www.uab.edu/blazernet and email us at isss@uab.edu so that we can update your student immigration record.

If you obtain an Alabama driver license, you also must update your address with the Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA) using Form DL-99. Mail it to the address listed on the form.

RENTER'S INSURANCE

Many companies offer renter's insurance to students. For example, National Student Services, Inc. (www.nssi.com) provides property insurance to students living in residence halls, off-campus apartments, and houses. Their Student Personal Property Plan covers clothing, textbooks, musical instruments, computers, furniture, appliances, technology, cameras and lenses, etc. Choose an amount of coverage that will allow to replace all of your most important items in the event of loss. ISSS does not endorse or recommend any particular rental insurance policy—NSSI is just one example of dozens of companies providing renter's insurance.

ACADEMIC STUDY IN THE US

US universities in general reflect the Constitutional value of freedom of speech and emphasize political and cultural democracy, competition, participation, and standards of fairness for all.

Course Load

F-1 students must be enrolled full-time each semester. Different program levels have different numbers of credit hours necessary to be considered full-time. Students studying in the Academic English program must enroll in 18 credit hours per semester. Undergraduate students must enroll in 12 credit hours per semester. Graduate students must enroll in 9 credit hours per semester. Please understand that these course requirements are the minimum necessary for immigration purposes, and different degree programs may require additional coursework. For example, a typical undergraduate student course load ranges from 15-18 hours, while a typical graduate course load could be 12 hours.

Attendance Policies

Most professors and instructors will outline their attendance policy in the course syllabus (list of rules and requirements) provided during the first week of class. Pay attention to these: failure to attend classes can result in a failing grade, and failing to attend enough classes can result in your Form I-20 being revoked and your student status terminated. When you must miss a class, inform the professor or instructor according to class policy.

Tips for Academic Success

- ◆ Introduce yourself to professors and instructors
- ◆ Seek help when you need it.
- ◆ Keep up with out-of-class assignments.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is taking someone else's words or ideas without acknowledging the source. In the US, it is not acceptable to incorporate the words of others into your own work without clearly attributing them (known as "citing" the source). The consequences of plagiarism can be severe, including receiving a failing grade and/or being dismissed from your program. If you are unsure when or how to cite borrowed words or ideas, ask your instructor.

Class Instruction

Methods of instruction vary according to professor and class. Often, introductory classes will consist of formal lectures, while upper-level classes may use a seminar-style discussion format. Professors usually expect students to ask questions during or at the end of class.

Assessment/Evaluation

Assessment involves a variety of methods, ranging from multiple-choice exams to essay questions. Instructors have the authority to assign grades. Your performance will be evaluated according to criteria distributed early in the semester. If you disagree with your final grade, ask to meet with your instructor to review the assessment together.

Class Participation

In US classrooms, discussion is often considered a vital part of the learning process, and students are encouraged to contribute their ideas and opinions. Some courses will count class participation toward the final grade.

FULL COURSE OF STUDY

Credit Hours

The courses students complete at UAB are measured in "credits." The number of credits a course is worth usually depends on the number of hours per week that the class meets. The academic year at UAB is comprised of three parts: fall semester (15 weeks), spring semester (15 weeks), and summer [divided into a 4-week May mini-term, a 14-week summer session, a 10-week summer session, and 7-week Summer A & B sessions].

Federal immigration regulations require F-1 international students to maintain full-time student status by enrolling in a certain number of credit hours each semester. At UAB, these hours are as follows:

Graduate students: 9 credit hours (6 of which must be in-person, face-to-face instruction)
Undergraduate students: 12 credit hours (9 of which must be in-person, face-to-face instruction)

Students also must earn a specified number of credit hours in order to graduate from UAB. Graduation requirements can be found in the UAB Catalog (www.uab.edu/students/academics/catalogs) and by consulting your Academic Advisor.

F-1 students must enroll full-time for 9 consecutive months each year, or 2 consecutive semesters. (If counting summer term as part of the 9 months, you may enroll in the May mini-term.) If you withdraw from courses without prior permission from ISSS, you will violate your immigration status. You cannot audit a class or withdraw. You must earn grades or pass/fail in all of your coursework.

Exceptions to Full-Time Enrollment

(You must submit a Reduced Course Load Form to ISSS before the beginning of the semester!)

General Course Reduction

You may request a general reduction in coursework only ONCE per degree level if you experience any of the following three situations:

- ◆ Initial difficulties with the English language
- ◆ Initial difficulties with the US academic system or unfamiliarity with US teaching methods
- ◆ Improper course level placement

If you request a reduced course load based on any of the above situations, you have exhausted your one use. If you do not enroll in a full course load the following semester, you must leave the US within 15 days of the beginning of the term (UNLESS it is your declared annual vacation – if so, please submit a Verification of Vacation to ISSS).

Graduate Course Reduction

Master's and doctoral students who have completed all coursework can request to enroll less than full-time for the following two reasons only:

- ◆ Preparing for comprehensive examinations
- ◆ Conducting thesis/dissertation research

You must submit a Certification for Reduced Course Load form to ISSS every term after you complete your coursework signed by your Academic Advisor or Supervising Professor and the Department Chair. This is important because when you apply for OPT, you must submit an academic transcript, and USCIS will look to see whether you fulfilled all F-1 student requirements (such as full-time enrollment) during your studies.

Documented Medical Conditions

To request a reduced course load for medical reasons, you must provide documentation from a recognized physician, licensed psychiatrist, or other legally recognized medical professional confirming an extended or aggravated condition which keeps you from attending school full-time.

Degree Completion

If you are in the final semester of your course of study and do not need a full course load to meet degree requirements (i.e., you will graduate this semester), you can request a reduction in your enrollment to the necessary coursework for your last term. This option can only be used once per degree program.

FINANCIAL DIFFICULTY AND POOR ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE ARE NOT VALID REASONS TO REQUEST A REDUCED COURSELOAD.

EMPLOYMENT AND TAXES

Whether on-campus or off-campus, F-1 international students are allowed to work no more than 20 hours per week while classes are in session, and no more than 37.5 hours per week during an official “vacation” semester and the break between Fall and Spring semesters in December. You must submit a Verification of Vacation Form to ISSS in order to work full-time, since UAB’s HR system will not allow full-time payment to students who have not completed the form. In most situations, graduate students holding assistantships already work the maximum 20-hour per week limit and are ineligible for additional work opportunities—even though their duties may not require 20 hours of actual effort per week. Please consult an Immigration Advisor before accepting any offer of employment.

ON-CAMPUS EMPLOYMENT

“On-campus” employment is a very particular term and is limited exclusively to entities that provide direct services to UAB students. If you receive an offer of on-campus employment (such as from the Recreation Center, Sodexho/Dining Services, the Campus Bookstore located in the Hill Student Center, the restaurants located in the food court at the Hill Student Center, a UAB lab, or elsewhere), please bring the necessary certification form to an Immigration Advisor at ISSS.

F-1 international students CANNOT work for the following entities because these entities do NOT provide direct services to UAB students. They serve the general public, despite being close to campus—but they are NOT “on campus” for purposes of valid F-1 employment!

- Chevron gas station
- BP gas station
- Al’s Mediterranean Grill
- Anywhere in the Five Points shopping area (Surin West, Insomnia Cookies, Ikko Ramen and Sushi, Golden Temple, Original Pancake House, Firehouse Subs, Waffle House, Jim ‘n’ Nick’s, Little Italy, Black Market, T-Bones—NOWHERE!)
- Basically, don’t work anywhere that doesn’t belong to or have a contract with UAB.

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOYMENT

Four types of off-campus employment authorization are available to F-1 international students.

Curricular Practical Training (CPT)

CPT is designed to provide students with hands-on experience to augment an academic program. It is available to undergraduate students after they have been in lawful F-1 status for 9 consecutive months. Graduate students may be eligible for CPT in their first semester if required by their program. Internships or course practicum requirements are also eligible for CPT authorization. Any off-campus employment must be directly related to your program of study and recommended as an integral part of your academic program. To qualify for CPT authorization, the employment must fit one of the following parameters:

- Internship for credit
- Cooperative Education Program (through the Career Services Office at UAB)
- Required internship or practicum through program

Graduate students can also obtain CPT work authorization for internships or experiences necessary for thesis or dissertation research. CPT is allowed only after an Immigration Advisor in the ISSS office makes the necessary changes in the online system and issues you a new Form I-20 reflecting CPT employment authorization. To request CPT from an Immigration Advisor, please have both your Academic Advisor and your CPT supervisor print and sign the letters found here and bring them to the ISSS office after making an online appointment. The Immigration Advisor will also expect you to enroll in an internship or co-op class to reflect the CPT opportunity on your transcript. This is crucial if you plan to apply for OPT later on.

Please note that you can participate in either full-time or part-time CPT. If you participate in 12 months or more of full-time CPT authorization, you will not be eligible for your year of post-completion OPT (see below). For further details, contact ISSS.

Optional Practical Training (OPT)

OPT is a work authorization benefit available to F-1 students either during their program of study (pre-completion) or following completion of their coursework requirements (post-completion). OPT is limited to twelve months of full-time employment per degree level. Most students apply for OPT following completion of their degree. Graduate students who have completed their coursework and who are still working on their thesis/dissertation are eligible to apply for pre-completion OPT. You can apply for pre-completion OPT to work during an annual vacation semester, but be aware that it will be subtracted from your 12 months of post-completion OPT. You can volunteer (i.e., accept an unpaid position) while on OPT.

STEM OPT

Students in qualifying science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (“STEM”) degree programs are eligible for an additional 24 months of OPT, in addition to their 12 months of regular post-completion OPT. Eligible degrees are determined by the CIP code listed on page 1 of your Form I-20. In order to qualify, your degree’s CIP code must appear on the government’s STEM Designated Degree Program List, and your employer must participate in the E-verify program (a system that electronically verifies Social Security numbers). You must apply for STEM extension prior to the expiration of your 12 months of post-completion OPT. Self-employment and volunteering are NOT allowed during STEM OPT.

Both types of OPT are available at each degree level. For example, if you earn a bachelor’s degree, you are eligible for 12 months of post-completion OPT; after earning a master’s degree you are eligible for another 12 months of post-completion OPT. If, however, you earn two bachelor’s degrees, you cannot apply for OPT after earning the second bachelor’s. Same with STEM OPT—you are eligible for the additional 24 months of STEM OPT after each STEM-qualifying degree.

Economic Hardship

F-1 students are eligible for up to 20 hours per week of off-campus employment if unforeseen circumstances beyond the student’s control occur that seriously alter the student’s financial condition. To obtain work authorization due to economic hardship, you must complete a Form I-765 and submit evidence along with a filing fee (currently $410). Please understand that paying tuition in the US is very expensive, and many students (both international and domestic) face financial difficulties. However, you must demonstrate that your situation is unique: after all, you provided an affidavit and/or bank statement covering the cost of your first year of tuition, and employment is not the primary purpose of an F-1 visa (study is). USCIS offers the following scenarios as examples of possible unforeseen circumstances that may qualify you for employment authorization based upon economic hardship:

- ❖ Loss of financial assistance or on-campus employment without fault of the student

- ❖ Substantial fluctuations in the value of currency or exchange rate
- ❖ Inordinate (not merely moderate) increases in tuition and/or living expenses
- ❖ Unexpected changes in the financial condition of the student's source of support
- ❖ Any unexpected expenses, such as uninsured medical bills
- ❖ Natural disasters

If approved, USCIS will issue you an Employment Authorization Document (EAD) valid for one year. The EAD is a card authorizing you to work off-campus. It may be renewed if you remain in good academic standing, maintain your lawful immigration status, and provide proof of continued economic hardship.

You cannot begin working until your Employment Authorization Document (EAD) card arrives in the mail and is physically in your hand! This generally takes 90 days.

ITIN OR SSN?

Depending on the type of financial support you receive while in the US, you will need to apply for one of two tax numbers: an Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN) or a Social Security Number (SSN).

To receive any type of scholarship/fellowship (trainee) payments from UAB, you will need an ITIN. If you have a graduate, research, or teaching assistantship, student assistant position, or other on-campus employment not classified as traineeship, fellowship, or athletic scholarship, you should apply for an SSN. If you are not sure how your position is classified, please ask your department. (If you already have an SSN or are in the process of obtaining one, you are ineligible for an ITIN.) Regardless of which number you need, you must book an appointment with the ISSS Tax Analyst, who will help you complete the forms to make sure you can receive your payments and comply with US federal and state tax regulations governing F-1 students.

If you need an ITIN, bring the following documentation to your appointment:

- Passport, Form I-94 (printed from <https://i94.cbp.dhs.gov/i94>), and signed, original Form I-20
- Social Security denial letter (obtained from the Social Security Administration office located at 1200 8th Avenue North, Birmingham AL 35285)
- Copy of your financial award letter (scholarship, fellowship, or traineeship)

More information is available here: www.irs.gov/uac/about-form-w7.

If you need an SSN, bring the following documentation to your appointment:

- Passport, Form I-94 (printed from <https://i94.cbp.dhs.gov/i94>), and signed, original Form I-20
- Form SS-5, Application for Social Security Number
- On-Campus Employer Verification Form (your employer/supervisor/sponsor must complete page 2 before ISSS completes page 3)

After meeting with the ISSS NRA Tax Analyst, take all of the above documents to the Social Security Administration office located at 1200 8th Avenue North. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m.

TAXES

There is no flat-rate tax system in the US. All income and scholarship proceeds are taxed according to tables based on total annual income for the previous tax year. Some of the taxes you will see deducted from your paycheck may include federal income tax, FICA taxes, Alabama tax, and local taxes.

Each January or February, you will receive a tax form (Form W-2) necessary to begin preparing to file your tax returns with the federal Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and the Alabama Department of Revenue. Tax returns for the year ending December 31, 2017 are due on Tuesday, April 17, 2018. See the ISSS NRA Tax Analyst for assistance in completing the proper forms to make sure you can receive your payments and comply with US federal and state tax regulations governing international students. More information is available here.

IMMIGRATION MATTERS

Important Documents

Your passport, visa, Form I-94, and Form I-20 are the four most important documents for a successful stay in the US. If you lose any of these documents, contact ISSS immediately.

Passport: Your passport must be valid during your stay in the US. Six months prior to its expiration, apply for an extension through your embassy. If your country does not have an embassy in the US, you must travel home to renew your passport. Allowing this document to expire means you are in violation of your status, even if you have attended school as required by law. Your passport is your main form of identification in the US and should be kept with you at all times.

Visa: This stamp is located inside your passport and allows you only to enter the US. (Do not confuse this with Form I-20, which allows you to stay in the US.) Don't worry if your visa stamp expires after you enter the US; you must renew it only if you plan to travel outside the US and re-enter the US. Citizens of most—but not all—countries can renew visas in Canada, Mexico, or their home country. Other citizens are restricted from visa renewal in Canada or Mexico and must return to their home country to process a visa renewal. Ask ISSS if you are eligible for renewal in Canada or Mexico.

Visas have a specific number of entries indicated, such as 1, 2, or M. If your visa is stamped 1, you may enter the US only once before having to apply for a new visa. If your visa is stamped 2, you have only one entry remaining after you enter the US the first time. "M" stands for multiple (you can re-enter the US multiple times by presenting a recently endorsed Form I-20). If your multiple-entry visa expires, you can still visit Canada or Mexico for recreational or business purposes for fewer than 30 days without having to obtain a new visa. This is called "visa revalidation." You cannot attempt to renew your visa while there!

Form I-94, Arrival Departure Record: This is your entry/departure record with US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS). It confirms your entrance date and determines how long you are allowed to remain in the US. The I-94 should indicate that you have been admitted in F non-immigrant status for "duration of status" (D/S). Duration of status is indicated by the Program End Date on your Form I-20. Please print a copy of your I-94 from <https://i94.cpb.dhs.gov/i94/request.html> and provide it to ISSS. If you misplace or lose your I-94, simply print it again. When exiting the US, your departure information will be recorded by your airline and shared electronically with US Customs and Border Protection (CBP).

Form I-20: This document is your permission to stay in the US as a full-time student. If you anticipate that your program of study will take longer than the Program End Date shown on your Form I-20, make an appointment with ISSS at least 30 days in advance of the Program End Date to extend your stay. Your academic advisor must provide information about your expected graduation date, and you must provide updated financial information. If you remain in the US more than 60 days beyond the Program End Date on your Form I-20, you are in violation of your non-immigrant visa status and must either leave the US immediately or apply for reinstatement of your status (if eligible – you must do this within 5 months).

If you plan to travel outside the US, ISSS must endorse page 2 of your Form I-20 so that you will be allowed to re-enter the US. Visit ISSS at least 2-3 weeks before your planned departure to learn about any necessary requirements for travel or updates in immigration issues.

Maintaining Valid Non-Immigrant Student Status

Maintaining status means that you are lawfully present in the US and eligible for all benefits available to international students. Here are 11 easy steps to maintain your F-1 student status.

1. Keep your passport valid at all times.
2. Attend the school you are authorized to attend. If you entered the US on a Form I-20 issued by UAB, you must check in with ISSS before UAB can transfer your SEVIS record to another school.
3. Enroll in a full course of study (12 credit hours for undergraduates, 9 credit hours for graduates).
YOU CANNOT WITHDRAW FROM YOUR COURSEWORK. YOU MUST COMPLETE THESE HOURS AND RECEIVE A GRADE. ONLY VERY EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES ALLOW FOR WITHDRAWAL, AND ONLY WITH ISSS APPROVAL.
4. Notify ISSS if you are unable to complete your degree program by the Program End Date specified on your Form I-20. You must obtain an extension within 30 days before the date of expiration.
5. Notify ISSS if you progress from one educational level to another (i.e., bachelor's to master's degree).
6. Notify ISSS if you intend to transfer to another school.
7. Do not work more than 20 hours per week on campus while school is in session. During breaks and vacation, you may work full-time.
8. DO NOT work off-campus without proper authorization from DHS and ISSS!
9. Update your physical residential address with ISSS within 10 days of moving. Do not list a mailing address or PO Box.

10. Do not enroll in fewer than 6 (graduate) or 9 (undergraduate) hours of in-person, face-to-face classroom instruction per semester (except when authorized during vacation or final semesters).
11. When on OPT, inform ISSS of your employer's contact information, any change of address, and any change of status.

INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

Consult ISSS at least 2-3 weeks before you make international travel arrangements. Depending on whether you have a visa stamp valid for re-entry, ISSS may need to issue you a new Form I-20. You will need the following documents to re-enter the US after international travel:

- ◆ Form I-20 signed within the last 12 months
- ◆ Valid passport
- ◆ Valid visa stamp
- ◆ Travel letter from ISSS certifying student status and eligibility for re-entry
- ◆ Copy of your transcript (ideally showing registration for the upcoming semester, when possible)
- ◆ If you need to renew your F-1 visa while abroad, please also bring proof of next semester's registration (if available) and proof of funding.

NOTE: If you leave the US after changing your immigration status (e.g., B-2 changed to F-1, F-2 changed to F-1), you must obtain a new visa to match your new status before you can re-enter the US. If you travel while on OPT, you must show your EAD card and a letter from your employer in addition to the above-listed items.

RENEWING YOUR VISA

Before traveling internationally and re-entering the US, most international students whose visas have expired will need to return home and apply for a new visa at the US embassy or consulate in their home country. Before leaving the US, make an appointment online via the US embassy/consulate website. Bring your valid Form I-20, unexpired passport, copy of your transcript (including proof of current registration), financial support documentation, and all additional documents advised by the embassy/consulate website.

If there is not a US embassy/consulate in your home country, consult the US Department of State website at <https://travel.state.gov> to obtain information about locations and procedures for renewal.

Citizens of certain countries can renew their visa in Canada or Mexico. Ask ISSS if you are eligible. You will need all documents listed for travel, as well as a Canadian or Mexican visa in order to go there. If your visa is denied in Canada or Mexico, you must return directly to your home country (not back to the US).

If you hold a research, graduate, or teaching assistantship, you must consult ISSS before traveling internationally. You may be subject to a background check due to sensitive areas of research, which can delay visa processing time and further delay your return to the US. It is important to notify both your faculty advisor and your employer about your intention to travel and possible delays.

HEALTH

You will receive your health clearance through the patient portal. In order to access your health information, you must set up your health portal online at www.uab.edu/studenthealth. A BlazerID is required.

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICES AND STUDENT HEALTH INSURANCE

Student Health Services provides outpatient care and covers routine visits to a physician (e.g., earaches, flu, minor emergency visits).

Student Health Insurance covers hospital stays and other expenses not covered by Student Health Services, such as if you have a baby, need to see a specialist, or visit the emergency room. ALL STUDENTS MUST PARTICIPATE IN THESE HEALTH PROGRAMS.

IMMUNIZATIONS

UAB requires all international students to have proof of certain immunizations (Measles, Mumps, Rubella; Tetanus, Diphtheria, Pertussis, Varicella, 2 Tuberculin Skin tests or 1 TB blood test; and, if you are 21 years old or younger, Meningitis). When you were admitted, you should have received an email from your department explaining the clearance process for immunizations and providing specific information on how to log into the online patient portal, complete the required forms, and submit your immunization documentation. You must have a BlazerID to access the patient portal. If you have not created your BlazerID, register for one at <https://idm.uab.edu/bid/reg>.

Students enrolled in the Joint Health Sciences program and in the Schools of Dentistry, Optometry, Public Health, Nursing, and Health Professions must also provide documentation that they have received three Hepatitis B vaccines and a Hepatitis B surface antibody blood titer and undergo a physical examination within 12 months prior to matriculation. ALL TB testing (skin, blood, or chest X-ray) must be performed in the US within 3 months prior to matriculation.

If you do not have the required vaccinations prior to your arrival, Student Health Services can administer the immunizations for a fee. For specific information, see www.uab.edu/studenthealth/immunizations/level-3.

HEALTH INSURANCE

The US does not have a universal free healthcare system. All F-1 students must obtain insurance coverage while in the US. Insurance coverage for F-2 dependents is optional, but you (the primary F-1 visa holder) are responsible for all medical expenses incurred by your uninsured dependents. Insurance for dependents is available through Student Health Services within the first 30 days of their arrival. New infants must also be added within 30 days of birth. Sign up for insurance through BlazerNET under Personal Information -> Mandatory Insurance Plan. Waiver of the insurance requirement is possible only if you have a comparable policy of your own. You must go to Banner Self-Service and then Personal Information within BlazerNET to complete a waiver form.

The UAB School of Dentistry offers a dental insurance plan (available only in the fall term), or you can purchase an independent policy. VIVA insurance does not cover dental expenses.

PHARMACIES

In the US, many medicines cannot be purchased without a doctor's recommendation, known as a prescription. Pharmacies (also known as drugstores) are the only resource licensed to sell prescription medicines. Bring your prescription from a doctor to any local pharmacy or to Student Health & Wellness. Pharmacies also sell cosmetics, soap, shampoo, toothpaste, magazines, non-prescription medicines (known as "over-the-counter" medicines for common illnesses such as a cold, cough, fever, and allergies), candy, drinks, and snacks. There are many pharmacies close to UAB.

BANKS

Banks offer a variety of professional services, including checking and savings accounts, certificates of deposit (CDs), automatic teller machines (ATMs), electronic banking, credit and debit cards, investment services, and estate planning. When selecting a bank, it is important to determine which of these services you need.

Shop around for the best interest rates and conditions of banking. Contact a bank's Newcomer Services department to determine which services are available. Make sure you understand all terms and agreements and receive adequate instructions on how to use the banking services.

You must provide certain information to a bank in order to open an account: photo identification (such as your passport), personal data, a mailing address, and money to deposit into the account. Banks may also request a Social Security Number (SSN). It is advisable to obtain an SSN as soon as possible in order to open a bank account. Banks will accept an Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN) if you are ineligible for an SSN.

Checking Account

A checking account safeguards money while allowing for easy payment of expenses. Some banks require customers to maintain a minimum amount of funds in a checking account, and some charge monthly fees for the maintenance of your account. You withdraw and deposit cash into your checking account by inserting the ATM card provided by your bank into an ATM and entering your personal identification number (PIN). If you write a check or withdraw more money than is available in your account, you will be charged an overdraft fee. When writing checks, leave no areas blank.

Savings Account

A savings account is used to safeguard money for a prolonged period. A low rate of interest is paid on the balance. Certificates of Deposit (CDs) earn higher interest rates than savings accounts, but you cannot access your money for a specific period of time. The longer the money is left in the CD, the higher interest it pays.

NOW Accounts

Many banks offer NOW (notice of withdrawal) accounts that combine the features of checking and savings accounts. With a NOW account, you can write a certain number of checks each month; such accounts can be very handy if you maintain a relatively high balance and write relatively few checks.

Credit Cards

Many banks offer a credit card with a charging limit. Credit cards are very convenient, but you should use them with caution. The amount charged to the card must be repaid, often at a high interest rate. Credit cards are best reserved for emergencies.

Handling Money Safely

Do not keep large sums of cash in your pockets, in your backpack or purse, or at home. Report a lost or stolen credit or debit card to your bank immediately so that no fraudulent charges will be put on your card.

FOOD

Birmingham has long been a culinary destination in the Southeast. Below is a selection of only some of the fantastic locally-owned restaurants and coffee houses in the Birmingham-Homewood-Mountain Brook area. Restaurants marked with an asterisk (*) are among the finest in the country (many of their chefs have been nominated for and/or received awards from the James Beard Foundation for culinary excellence) and are best suited for a special date night, graduation celebration, anniversary, or final interview dinner.

Pizitz Food Hall

New to Birmingham in the spring of 2017, the Pizitz Food Hall offers a variety of international and southern cuisine in a historic downtown department store building. Options include Ethiopian, Vietnamese, Japanese, Mexican, poke, and a rotating restaurant. Learn more at <http://www.thepizitz.com/food-hall/>.

Grocery Stores and Supermarkets

Avoid shopping on Sunday afternoons, as grocery stores tend to be most crowded then as people prepare for the coming week. The Lakeview stop on the Dart trolley car lets you off within two blocks of the Piggly Wiggly.

Birmingham-based start-up company Shipt will deliver groceries to your home. Visit www.shipt.com to set up an account (annual membership fee, free delivery on orders over $35, no tipping allowed). Prices may be slightly higher via Shipt than if you go to the store yourself, but you save time and hassle via delivery.

Wholesale Clubs

A wholesale club is a warehouse-style store offering everything from underwear to brie to high-definition TVs to lemons. Items often come in bulk (two-packs of ketchup, 36 rolls of toilet paper, etc.), so you need a car big enough to transport them and a pantry big enough to stock them. Birmingham has two wholesale clubs: Costco (3650 Galleria Circle in Hoover) and Sam's (201 Lakeshore Parkway and 3900 Grants Mill Road). The only credit card Costco accepts is Visa; annual memberships start at $55. Sam's memberships start at $45. The membership fees covers two family members over the age of 18 (so you or your spouse can shop). You can apply online or in-store. A membership in a wholesale club can save a family a considerable amount of money over the course of a year and is worth considering.

Farmers Markets

Birmingham's oldest and most established farmer's market is held daily from 6:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. at 344 Finley Avenue West, Birmingham, AL 35204 (<http://alabamafarmersmarket.org/>). Farmers from all over the state bring the freshest and finest seasonable fruits and vegetables.

The Pepper Place market is open from 7:00 a.m. until 12:00 p.m. every Saturday (rain or shine!) from April through December. In addition to the freshest Alabama produce, you can find ice cream, baked goods, flowers, herbs, handmade soaps, wooden handicrafts, jewelry, live music, and cooking demonstrations. Pepper Place is dog-friendly if you keep your dog on a leash and clean up after it.

There are several smaller weekly farmers markets as well. The Urban Cookhouse restaurant at The Summit shopping center hosts a farmers market on Thursdays from June through August from 3:00 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. The West Homewood Farmers Market runs June through August on Tuesdays from 5:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. at 160 Oxmoor Road (www.westhomewood.com). Vestavia Hills United Methodist Church runs a farmers market every Wednesday from May through September from 7:00 a.m. until 11:00 a.m. at 2061 Kentucky Avenue. In Hoover, you can find a farmers market at 4601 Valleydale Road (www.valleydalefarmersmarket.com).

RELIGION

Birmingham is located in what is known colloquially as the “Bible Belt,” a region of the southeastern and south-central US where Protestant Christian denominations have traditionally played a prominent role in social and political life. Although practitioners of nearly every faith live in Birmingham, do not be surprised if some of your American friends and colleagues born in the south adhere to a Christian faith tradition or embrace conservative values. Many smaller local businesses and restaurants are likely to be closed on Sundays. Below is just a small sample of places of worship and reflection available in metro Birmingham.

MEDIA

Print/Electronic

The most important media for international students is the ISSS weekly e-newsletter, the Globetrotter. If you do not already receive it, email issss@uab.edu to subscribe. It will arrive in your inbox on Monday mornings.

GLOBETROTTER

Birmingham's local newspaper, The Birmingham News, is printed on Wednesdays, Fridays, and Sundays. Its website, www.al.com, is an alternate source. Another paper, (Weld), is published weekly and covers issues relevant to Birmingham politics. It also has a listing of concerts. Find it at area restaurants and in newspaper boxes on streets around town.

Three monthly magazines cover life in Birmingham: b-Metro, Birmingham Magazine, and Birmingham Home and Garden. Birmingham Parent lists activities and information specifically for kids.

Subscribe to the Birmingham Business Journal at www.bizjournals.com/birmingham for news about local politics, the economic climate, new developments at Birmingham companies, and entrepreneurial exploits.

Several Birmingham suburbs also publish papers or newsletters, such as the Over-the-Mountain Journal, the Homewood Star, and Mountain Brook's Village Living.

Internet/Cable/Satellite TV

AT&T U-verse, Charter, Comcast, DIRECTV, Spectrum, and dish Network all offer home media services (known as "bundles") in the Birmingham area, although not all companies operate in the same neighborhoods. Visit their respective websites to determine which services are provided in your specific area. Who are we kidding? Just watch Netflix, Hulu, and Apple TV.

Mobile Phones

You can often purchase a US SIM card to obtain service with no contract. Prices vary from $35-75 per month, depending on the service/data plan you need. Any of the following providers can set you up.

- AT&T, 1-844-723-0252, www.att.com/local/alabama/birmingham
- Boost Mobile
- Cellular Express (carries T-Mobile, Boost, and Virgin), (205) 941-1144
- Simple Mobile
- T-Mobile
- Verizon
- Virgin Mobile USA
- Wal-Mart (offers many prepaid and no-contract options)

SPORTS AND RECREATION

OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES

Birminghilians are outdoors more than ever before. The city's flagship park is Railroad Park in the Parkside area of Southside near Regions Field. Railroad Park offers free exercise and cooking classes, 19 acres of green space, a skate park, pond, walking/running trails, and a playground.

Designed by renowned park planner Frederick Law Olmsted, Jr., George Ward Park on the edge of campus has tennis courts, a disc golf ("frolf") course, a dog park area, and softball fields. You will often find adult kickball and softball leagues sweating it out after work. The Olmsteds also designed Rushton Park along Highland Avenue in the Forest Park area of Southside.

Runners will enjoy Mountain Brook's Jemison Trail, the downtown Rotary Trail, and Red Mountain Park. The Birmingham Zoo and Botanical Gardens offer year-round family programming. Kayakers and canoeists enjoy floating one of the longest free-flowing rivers in the Southeast, the Cahaba, from any of several put-in points. Check out www.trekbirmingham.com and www.outdooralabama.com for more activities.

SPORTS

Alabama is dominated by one sport, and one sport only: football. Specifically, college football. According to popular opinion, the only two teams on planet Earth are the University of Alabama Crimson Tide and the Auburn University Tigers . . . but we all know the UAB Blazers are the best! The Division I Blazers had a winning season in 2017 and earned a spot in the Bahamas Bowl.

The regular football season runs from late August/early September through November, with regional ("conference") playoffs determining who will play in various championship "bowl games" throughout December. Alabama and Auburn play in the Southeastern Conference ("SEC"). The season culminates with the National Championship in January. Do not underestimate the power of college football. You may be greeted with phrases such as "Roll Tide" (designating an Alabama fan), "War Eagle" (designating an Auburn fan), or "Blaze On" (designating a UAB fan). Just nod and smile. People plan their weddings around games, name their children and pets after players, host elaborate "tailgate" parties at their home or outside the football stadium, and do not speak to family members who do not support their team. That said, the best time to run errands is during an Alabama or Auburn football game. The streets and stores will be deserted for four hours while people are glued to their televisions cheering for colleges some of them did not even attend.

Birmingham is also home to both the nation's oldest and one of its newest baseball parks. Rickwood Field was built in 1910. Every summer the Birmingham Barons put on vintage uniforms and play the Rickwood Classic. During the regular season, the Barons play at Regions Field (1401 1st Avenue South), which was built in 2013. Tickets start at $7 for general admission. See www.barons.com for a complete schedule.

Birmingham's NPSL (National Premier Soccer League) team, the Birmingham Hammers, play at the Sicard Hollow Athletic Complex near Liberty Park (4700 Sicard Hollow Road). The city will also get a USL team (one level below the MLS) in 2019!

Birmingham is also home to the Birmingham Vulcans rugby team. They play at Erskine Ramsay Park on the corner of Country Club Drive and Montclair Road.

MUSEUMS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Birmingham is home to several nationally-renowned museum collections, including the Birmingham Museum of Art (home to the world's largest Wedgwood collection outside England), the Southern Museum of Flight, the Alabama Sports Hall of Fame, the Birmingham Civil Rights Institute, the Birmingham Civil Rights National Monument, the Alabama Jazz Hall of Fame, Vulcan Park and Museum (home of the largest cast iron statue in the world), the Negro Southern League Museum, and the Barber Motorsports Museum.

The Birmingham area also features a wide variety of music venues and concert halls. Classical music aficionados will enjoy hearing the Alabama Symphony Orchestra play at UAB's very own Alys Stephens Center. Iron City, WorkPlay, and Oak Mountain Amphitheater attract the nation's best bands. Hear live jazz or join in open mic/spoken word nights at the Carver Theatre. Southside's legendary, windowless "The Nick" dive bar/pool room hosts country, rock, alternative, house, metal, and blues acts almost nightly. Saturn in Avondale brings in new alternative and classic rock acts. Birmingham's beautifully-restored Alabama and Lyric theatres lend old-world glamor to chamber music, solo, pop artists, and comedians. The Alabama also hosts a popular summer movie series featuring classic American films (Jaws, Gone With the Wind, The Godfather, etc.), popcorn, and its famous Wurlitzer organ.

Catch live theatrical performances at The Terrific New Theatre, Red Mountain Theatre, and Virginia Samford Theatre. Opera Birmingham also features two or three concerts per season.

The social calendar in Birmingham is stocked year-round. Don't miss the Sidewalk Film Festival, Mercedes Marathon, SlossFest, Alabama Ballet's Nutcracker, Greek Food Festival, Secret Stages, Southern Makers, and Birmingham Restaurant Week—just to name a few!

CULTURE SHOCK

Adapted from Rhodes, Gary. Culture Shock. University of California, Irvine, Center for International Education (2000).
Used with permission of the author.

You may experience many emotions while adapting to US culture, from excitement and interest to depression and fear of the unknown. The difficulties you may experience as you navigate American society can result of what is termed “culture shock.” Most experts agree that culture shock, although often delayed, is inevitable in one form or another. However, adjusting to a foreign culture and living through difficult times of change can be a satisfying experience—worth the occasional discomfort and extra effort. Such feelings are perfectly normal. Knowing this, and with a bit of conscious effort, you will soon find yourself making adjustments (some quite subtle and perhaps unnoticeable at the conscious level) that will enable you to adapt to your new cultural environment.

The attitudes you bring with you to the US and those you form while here will have a great effect upon your perception of the American people and the southern way of life. It is very important for you to be aware of the role attitudes play in your US experience. Communication can break down when US cultural attitudes are fundamentally different than yours, and the results are often feelings of confusion and hostility on both sides.

You might be under the impression that cultural shock is some kind of disease that everyone catches after arriving in the US and, after a certain length of time, recovers from. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Some international students and scholars never recover from this condition no matter how long they spend in the US. This is because culture shock is actually caused by a mismatch of cultural attitudes—not by some virus, as the name implies. If you don’t keep an open mind and don’t invest any effort trying to understand American culture, you will always be in a state of shock.

There is no clear-cut way of dealing with culture shock. Simply recognizing its existence and accepting your vulnerability to it is an important first step. Remember that you are not the only one experiencing occasional frustration, irritability, and depression. Experiencing culture shock does not imply any psychological or emotional shortcoming on your part.

Undergoing culture shock is in itself a learning experience. It is a way of sensitizing yourself to another culture at a level beyond the intellectual and the rational. Just as an athlete cannot get into shape without conditioning, so you cannot fully appreciate the cultural differences that exist without first going through the uncomfortable stages of psychological adjustment.

An underlying cause of negative reactions to another culture is the tendency to label something that is different as inferior. It is important to be open toward the culture into which you are going, try to discard stereotypes, and read as much as you can about culture before your departure. If you educate yourself, you will better understand and appreciate your new surroundings much sooner. Before leaving home, learn about American history, natural resources, social customs, religions, art, and political structures. Find out the manners, expected behavior, and unspoken rules in play in the US. Read up on our present-day problems and current national issues. Learning about current affairs will help you get a sense of how people evaluate events from different perspectives. Talk to other students who have been to the US to learn what problems you may encounter.

Even with preparation, you will inevitably experience some symptoms of culture shock. If you understand the phenomenon and its possible causes, you can decrease its effects. Try to acquaint yourself with its signs.

PHASES OF CULTURAL ADJUSTMENT

Studies have shown that there are distinct phases of culture shock which virtually everyone who lives abroad goes through. These phases include:

Preliminary Phase: Awareness of the host culture, preparation for the journey, farewell activities, anticipation

Initial Euphoria: Thrill of being in a new place, happiness at being welcome, sense of independence and invincibility as you start classes and explore campus

Irritability: Frustration arising from acclimating to your new setting; difficulty coping with the elementary aspects of everyday life when things still appear foreign to you; focus shifts to the sometimes troubling differences between the US and your home country; insignificant difficulties feel like major problems; tendency to associate mainly with others from your home country

Gradual Adjustment: Begin to orient yourself and become able to interpret subtle cultural clues; US culture and mannerisms become familiar to you

Adaptation and Biculturalism: Sense of “foreignness” diminishes significantly; you start to feel that you are a part of American culture.

Re-Entry Phase: Excitement about sharing your experiences accompanied by a realization that you have changed, although you may not be able to explain how; both your original and US-acquired sets of values may seem equally valid; difficulty re-adapting to the pace and scale of life at home; need to maintain contact with US friends and colleagues

TIPS TO EASE CULTURAL ADJUSTMENT

Here are some general tips to help ease cultural adjustment:

- Travel in a spirit of humility and with a genuine desire to meet and talk with local people.
- Do not expect to find things as they are at home--you left home to discover different things!
- Do not take anything too seriously. An open mind is the beginning of a fine international experience.
- Do not let others get on your nerves. You have come a long way to learn as much as you can, to enjoy the experience, and to be a good ambassador for your country.
- Read the information in the Compass, the Globetrotter, student handbook, and any departmental materials carefully. Those who have gone before you have good advice to share.
- Keep your passport with you at all times.
- Don't judge the entire United States by the one American you disagree with or who treats you disrespectfully. There are over 323 million of us, and we can all learn from you!
- Cultivate the habit of listening and observing, rather than merely seeing or hearing.
- Realize that other people may have thought patterns and concepts of time which are very different than yours – not inferior, just different.
- Be aware of the feelings of local people to prevent what might be offensive behavior.
- Make no promises to local, new friends that you cannot implement or carry through.
- Keep a journal and reflect on your daily experiences to deepen your understanding.
- Take steps to minimize emotional and physical ups-and-downs.
- Try to establish routines that incorporate both the difficult and enjoyable tasks of the day or week.
- Treat yourself to an occasional indulgence, such as a magazine or newspaper in your own language, a favorite meal or beverage, or a long talk with other students experiencing the same challenges.
- Keep yourself healthy through regular exercise and eating habits.
- Accept invitations to activities that will allow you to see other areas of Alabama and the south.

FITTING IN

Social customs differ greatly from one country to another. Generally speaking, be friendly, courteous, and dignified. If you err on the side of being respectful, people will make allowances when you do not immediately understand or feel comfortable with things.

POLITENESS: Offer a formal word of greeting to whomever you meet in your day-to-day activities. For example, begin your conversation with, “Hello, good morning (afternoon, evening)!” and become familiar with the appropriate expressions of gratitude in response to southern hospitality.

HUMOR: While each country has its own particular brand of wit and humor, very few cultures are as direct, sarcastic, and occasionally gross as Americans. Don’t take things literally or personally. If you are unsure if someone meant a comment as a joke or was serious, feel free to ask.

SPEAKING THE LANGUAGE: Most southerners will have as hard a time understanding your accent (if you have one) as you will have understanding theirs. Don’t be intimidated or inhibited when speaking English, even if you have only a limited command of the language. Also don’t be afraid to ask Americans to please repeat themselves. Americans will use phrases that you have never learned in a textbook that may confuse or even embarrass you if you take them literally. Again, keep a sense of humor and ASK if you are confused!

PHYSICAL CONTACT: Americans tend to shake hands when they meet each other (in business relationships) and—mainly in the south—give hugs or a pat on the back when they meet each other (in a more social relationship). Southerners are just very “touchy” people. Don’t be afraid to let someone know if you prefer a different form of greeting, or if a common form of greeting makes you uncomfortable. Americans generally require more “personal space” (how far away they stand or sit when conversing with you) than other cultures. Observe your colleagues and friends at meetings and parties to see how Americans interact.

PERSONAL QUESTIONS: Americans find it easy and quite appropriate to talk about themselves, which you may find impolite. Feel free to talk about yourself back to them! Remember: you have come here to get to know the US, its people, culture, and language! If you avoid contact with Americans, you cheat yourself and lengthen the process of adaptation. Try to maintain a sense of humor.

DRINKING AND DRUNKENNESS: Americans enjoy social drinking, but drunkenness is neither amusing nor tolerable. There are severe academic and immigration consequences for drunk driving and misbehavior due to intoxication. American college campuses are also extremely sensitive to claims of date rape (taking advantage of someone sexually while they are incapacitated by drugs and/or alcohol). Know the law, local customs, and your limits.

PRICE BARGAINING: Except when buying a car or visiting a yard or garage sale, haggling and bargaining are practically never done in the US. Prices at farmers markets are non-negotiable as well. You may find some independent vendors who occasionally will let you argue for a lower price, but this is highly extraordinary. The published price is generally the price you must pay.

TALKING POLITICS: Americans think they know everything about international affairs and generally stick to their opinion, however ill-informed it may be. Do not be at all surprised if your new friends try to engage you in political debate, and do not be surprised if they offer one-sided or even plainly erroneous arguments. Be discrete and rational when defending your own convictions, and do your best to keep the conversation calm. Some of the current administration's policies have caused tempers to run higher than usual. Try to steer the conversation in another direction if it becomes uncomfortable or antagonistic.

One of the main benefits of studying and living abroad is developing a sensitivity to and appreciation for the people and customs of a totally different culture and way of life. Be flexible and receptive in dealing with these differences, and you will find your life greatly enriched.
