The Young Breast Cancer Survivorship Network (YBCSN) initiative in the UAB-School of Nursing is a program supported by the Women Breast Health’s Fund of the Community Foundation of Greater Birmingham.

The YBCSN program has the following initiatives:

- Interprofessional partnerships among health providers, advocates, and organizations who provide education and support for young breast cancer survivors
- Educate young breast cancer survivors and families about premenopausal breast cancer
- Increase public and family awareness about the special needs of young breast cancer survivors
- Extend outreach through upcoming website

At a time when young women are usually preparing for family and career, their life course must be altered to face breast cancer treatment, recovery, and survivorship. YBCSN central focus is to improve their quality of life, as well as for their loved ones through education, support and networking.
