The UAB School of Optometry Clinical Eye Research Facility (CERF) conducts ongoing innovative eye research and is in constant need of participants for different studies. We are presently looking for subjects who are 18 years or older to enroll in a database for notification of current and future studies. The database will only consist of basic demographics, contact information, limited health history, and symptoms of eye discomfort. The questionnaire can be completed at the links to the left, or can be completed via telephone, and will take approximately 10 minutes. There is no compensation for being included in the database, though future studies may include reimbursement.
