School of Health Professions – Shared Governance – Comments on Solutions

• It’s all about communication. We must do a better job at communicating roles, responsibilities and major activities that require more Shared Governance.

• It is unclear what communication channels are needed to ensure that there is strong representation among faculty and staff on key Shared Governance issues.

• We are lacking an IT support structure that could enable us to make current information readily available allowing for input from faculty/staff in a timely manner.