

Katherine A. Meese, Ph.D.

With fifteen years of experience in healthcare management, leadership and research, Dr. Meese is an award-winning scholar and author in organizational behavior, well-being, and leadership. Most importantly, she is on a mission to use science to help healthcare leaders keep their people and keep them well. She is a frequent keynote speaker and trains healthcare leaders around the world. She has co-authored five books including textbooks on organizational behavior in healthcare used in over 160 schools nationwide, The Human Margin: Building the Foundations of Trust and Genfluence: How to Lead a Multigenerational Workforce. Dr. Meese also has deep experience in curriculum design and teaches and mentors graduate, doctoral and executive students at the University of Alabama at Birmingham (UAB), and serves on the advisory board for Belmont University Frist College of Medicine Collaborative for Health Systems Innovation.